SECTION OF SEWER LINE IS CRUSHED

One hundred ninety feet of crushed sewer line which has been causing the Municipal Authority much difficulty in the new high school area is scheduled for replacement "within two weeks after the school is closed," Francis Alberts, manager of the Authority, said this morning.

The sewer clogged Friday at the crushed spot and raw sewage overflowed into Weinbrenner's Run in the covered section of the stream in front of the new high school, sending raw sewage down the stream.

Municipal Authority workmen were at work immediately after the problem was discovered and used a sewer rotor to clean debris from the crushed section.

FLUSH STREAM
Alberts said the section, located in the play area northeast of the new high school, apparently was broken by heavy machinery passing over it at some time. Normally the sewer, even though crushed, operates well. But when clogging occurs the sewage backs up, eventually entering the stream.

At a prior time it was found that a bath towel had caused the clogging. Friday evening it apparently was wadding of paper towels that actually caused the halting of the flow and the backing up of the sewage.

A special chemical solvent to destroy odors and health perils was placed in the stream Friday night and this morning flushing and cleaning operations began on the stream. A fire hydrant near the old reservoir atop E. Cemetery Hill was opened to permit large quantities of water to flow into Weinbrenner's Run and clean away any sewage missed by the Municipal Authority workmen in cleaning the stream.

LIST 262 FOR SUMMER JOBS

The Pennsylvania State Employment Service's "Youth Manpower" drive to get summer jobs for those who will be going back to school next fall and permanent jobs for those who graduate is working so well, as far as getting lists of students seeking jobs, that the Gettysburg office today made an additional plea to employers to list potential positions with it.

So far, 226 high school students have signed with the employment office for summer work and 23 graduates have signed for permanent work. In addition, 36 college students are seeking summer work.

So far eight students have been placed by the employment office in jobs as a result of the program but numerous others have gotten jobs as a result of the advice they received when they signed at the employment office.

BUSY SEEKING JOBS

"Don't wait for us, go out and see what you can get while we also search for jobs for you," the employment service told each youth as he signed up for work. Recently when the office called around to some businesses which they believed might have some jobs available they found the youngsters had taken their advice. "They've been here in droves," the employers told the employment office, and all the jobs we usually have are already filled.

2 Kennedy Children At Fantasyland For 2 Hours

Caroline and John Kennedy Jr. took their mother to see Fantasyland Friday afternoon.

The Kennedy children had visited the storybook park along the Taneytown Rd. about two weeks ago, accompanied by their nurse and a Secret Service man.

Friday afternoon about 3:30 they arrived with their mother and two Secret Service men from Camp David.

The youngsters both had special things they wished to show their mother and sometimes, like most mothers with two small children, Mrs. Kennedy found herself being tugged two different directions at once.

ATTRACTED ATTENTION
But the children and the mother seemed to have a good time. The children found a slide into a pile of hay a delight and rode the 1863 train several times. The merry-go-round also was a choice for several trips.

The President's wife and children entered the park when only a few visitors were there. Shortly thereafter more visitors arrived. The group was not spotted immediately, but after word spread through the park most other people there gathered to watch the youngsters.

"Zippy," the chimpanzee, who amused the youngsters on their last trip with his activities, was brought out by Mrs. Kennedy Dick and showed how he can eat cereal from a bowl with a spoon, and then amused the youngsters when he decided that spoon was too slow for getting the milk out of the bowl and simply drank out of it like a cup.

FRANKLIN TWP. GRADUATES 55 FRIDAY NIGHT

George B. Inskip, the assistant superintendent of schools of Adams County, was the speaker Friday evening when the Franklin Twp. Elementary School at Cashedown handed diplomas to 55 Sixth Graders.

The diplomas were presented by President Thomas O. Oyler of the Franklin Twp. School Board to members of the graduating class. Awards were presented by the school principal, Hobart E. Benchoff, and there was special music by the school orchestra, chorus and band.

The Robert Mackley award in arithmetic was shared by Carol Sharrach and David Pickering and the John Chapman award of $15 for the top student was won by Roxey Ann Bream.

TALKS ON "CHOICES"
"Choice Making" was the theme of the address by Supt. Inskip. "The choices you make in the next six years of your education will determine greatly your type of life to follow," he said. "Use the many aids available to you, your parents, your church, your teachers, your library and other people and places to help make your choices in the future. Many of your choices to date have been made for you by parents, teachers and others. Plan now to begin Grade Seven in the fall with the daily practice of good choice making."

The graduation program opened with a processional march. The invocation was given by the Rev. Fr. Louis Yeager, pastor of St. Ignatius Catholic Church, Buchanan Valley. Then the orchestra and chorus gave "All Through the Night," a Welsh folk tune. A band selection followed Mr. Inskip's address and awards and diplomas were presented. The class sang the "Alma Mater" and the benediction. (Continued On Page 3)

File Damage Suit In Child's Death

Frances L. Brantner, as trustee ad litem, has brought an action in trespass in the county court against Paul E. Simpson, Middletown, as the result of a fatal accident June 5, 1962, on the Sunshine Trail 6 1/2 miles west of Fairfield.

The law firm of Brown, Swope and MacPhail filed a summons in trespass for Mrs. Brantner in the probate court's office. A complaint listing details of the suit has not been filed.

News reports of June 6, 1962, show that Thomas Anthony Brantner, aged 6 1/2, Fairfield R. 1, was fatally hurt on the afternoon of June 5, 1962, when struck by a station wagon operated by Simpson.

According to news reports then, the child, a Second Grade student in the Fairfield school, was playing "pitch and catch" with a brother, Harry Brantner, 9, on the lawn of the Brantner home. The child reportedly went onto the highway in pursuit of a ball and was struck by the vehicle. Death was caused by internal injuries and a broken neck.

SEEK MAN WHO ATTEMPTED TO ATTACK WOMAN

State police today continued their search for a man who apparently attempted to rape a woman in the Knoxlyn area at 10:45 o'clock Friday morning and then fled when he learned the woman's husband was asleep on the second floor of the home.

Police said a man described as white, aged 30, six feet tall, weighing about 200 pounds, with short cut auburn hair, a pockmarked face, and a lump on his right cheek. He was wearing a light brown jacket, light trousers, and a low cut boot, rapped at the door of two homes in the Knoxlyn area.

At the first he asked whether a "Harry Cox" resided in the area. The woman who answered said she did not know and he left.

At the second home he asked about a "Frank Cox." The woman started to answer when the man pushed open the door, told the woman that he had a gun in his pocket and ordered her upstairs.

AWAKENS HUSBAND

She went ahead of the man to her bedroom, knowing her husband, who works nights, was there. When she opened the door to the bedroom she ran to her husband screaming to awaken him. He arose and found the man fleeing down the steps. The husband chased the intruder but was unable to capture him.

The man drove a light blue car, about 10 years old, possibly with Maryland license plates. Police said the registration plate on the car is placed higher than usual and might be a dealer's plate. The car has a dull light paint.

State police asked anyone who might have information on the case will keep all information confidential and the person calling, man to call them at once. The officer writing, may set the time and place they wish to meet the officers.

SHORTAGE OF RAIN BUILDS UP DURING MAY

The month of May that opened with the coldest May 1 here in 41 years and 10 days later was setting heat records with readings in the 90's ended Friday for short of normal rainfall and with average temperatures that made it the coldest May here in seven years.

Gettysburg Times weather records show it was the third consecutive May with a rainfall shortage and the fourth month this year that was short of normal rainfall. Only March this year received more than normal precipitation.

Last month's shortage of rainfall followed the driest April: 1 in 17 years and brought the 1963 rainfall shortage to 4.42 inches for the first five months. The total precipitation for the first five months is 12.7 inches.

WIDE RANGE

The high for the month was a 91 registered on the afternoon of May 10 and the day before that the mercury had climbed to 90. The low for the month was a 34-degree reading on May 13 but there were a number of frosts and rural areas had freezing temperatures that caused extensive damage to vegetables and some fruits.

The average daily high was 71.87 degrees for the month and the average low was 47.61. The month's average temperature was 59.74 degrees while normal May weather brings an average of 63.4 degrees.

Thunderstorms were recorded several times during the month but measurable amounts of rain fell on only six days. May rains totaled only 2.29 inches with 1.9 inches below the May normal of 4.19 inches.

One youngster hurried a knife which struck Miss Shafer on the leg, according to the report.

Head Of Catholic Church Not Expected To Live Until This Evening; In Coma; Clings To Life Because Of Stout Heart

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII was sinking again today, and Vatican Radio said he could die "at any moment." His physician, Dr. Piero Mazzoni, said: "I doubt if he can live until this evening."

Unconscious and under oxygen, the 81-year-old pontiff clung to life only because of a sturdy heart. It was the second grave crisis within 24 hours.

A 12:15 p.m. 6:15 a.m. EST, Vatican Radio broadcast implored Catholics around the world to pray for the Pope. He quoted his doctors as saying: "Short of a miracle, he could be expected to die at any moment."

The Pope had regained consciousness earlier, after hours in a coma.

BROTHERS PRAY
The Pope's confessor was summoned to his bedside, the announcement said. It was made by Archbishop Antonio Samore, secretary of the Vatican Congregation for Extraordinary Affairs.

The Rt. Rev. Giuseppe Cavagna, his confessor, is at the bedside," the announcement said. "The Pope's brothers are alternating in prayer."

Vatican Radio said that several cardinals and substitutes—messengers who hold high positions within the major Vatican congregations—were with the Pope.

"The Holy Father's serenity and constancy with which his thoughts have been focused on God, his repetition of the invocation 'Jesus, Jesus' have touched all hearts," the radio said.

"He is suffering, but lovingly, as he himself said."

Vatican Radio told of the crowd growing in St. Peter's Square, with thousands of faces turned upward toward the Pope's bedroom window.

"They are moved," the radio said, "by the strong demonstration of piety and faith which the Holy Father has given during the course of his suffering."

Only the stout heart of this son of a peasant had brought him from a deep, four-hour coma early today. He had amazed his doctors by sitting up in bed.

The Vatican said the Pope kissed a Crucifix and blessed his three brothers and a sister keeping the death watch by his bed. Later he sipped coffee from a cup.

BUSY SEEKING JOBS

"Don't wait for us, go out and see what you can get while we also search for jobs for you," the employment service told each youth as he signed up for work.

Recently when the office called around to some businesses which they believed might have some jobs available they found the youngsters had taken their advice. "They've been here in droves," the employers told the employment office, "and all the jobs we usually have are already filled."

Head Of Catholic Church Not Expected To Live Until This Evening; In Coma; Clings To Life Because Of Stout Heart

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII was sinking again today, and Vatican Radio said he could die "at any moment." His physician, Dr. Piero Mazzoni, said: "I doubt if he can live until this evening."

Unconscious and under oxygen, the 81-year-old pontiff clung to life only because of a sturdy heart. It was the second grave crisis within 24 hours.

A 12:15 p.m. (6:15 a.m. EST) Vatican Radio broadcast implored Catholics around the world to pray for the Pope. It quoted his doctors as saying: "Short of a miracle, he could be expected to die at any moment."

"STILL SERENE"

Raimondo Manzini, director of the Vatican newspaper l'Osservatore Romano, came from the papal apartment at 11 a.m. (5 a.m. E.S.T.) and said the Pope was "still serene."

6 WINDOWS AT MOUNT GROTTO ARE DEDICATED

Rev. Fr. Hugh J. Phillips, director of the National Shrine of Our Lady's Grotto, the oldest replica of the Shrine of Lourdes in the U.S., at Mount Saint Mary's College, Emmitsburg, today announced the dedication of six stained glass windows in the Corpus Christi Chapel at the Grotto site. The windows were the gift of Rt. Rev. Msgr. Louis J. Mendelis, S.T.D., LL.D., pastor of St. Alphonsus Church, Baltimore. The windows depict scenes of the old grotto prior to its recent restoration, the original chapel, and the figures of Blessed Elizabeth Seton, Bishop John DuBois, founder of the Mount, Bishop Simon Brute, his associate, and Bishop Thomas McGovern of Harrisburg who built the present chapel.

15,000 VISITORS

The windows which were installed last winter were blessed by the donor, Msgr. Mendelis, as part of the annual pilgrimage services of St. Alphonsus's parishioners to the Grotto. Msgr. Mendelis is also the founder of 10 scholarships at the Mount, each valued at $10,000. He has also given two memorial prizes, each valued at $1,000.

Rev. Fr. Phillips said that 29 scheduled pilgrimages visited the shrine during May bringing the total number of visitors to nearly 15,000.

2 Kennedy Children At Fantasyland For 2 Hours

Caroline and John Kennedy Jr. took their mother to see Fantasyland Friday afternoon.

The Kennedy children had visited the storybook park along the Taneytown Rd. about two weeks ago, accompanied by their nurse and a Secret Service man.

Friday afternoon about 3:30 they arrived with their mother and two Secret Service men from Camp David.

The youngsters both had special things they wished to show their mother and sometimes, like most mothers with two small children, Mrs. Kennedy found herself being tugged two different directions at once.

ATTRACTED ATTENTION

But the children and the mother seemed to have a good time. The children found a slide into a pile of hay a delight and rode the 1863 train several times. The merry-go-round also was a choice for several trips.

The President's wife and children entered the park when only a few visitors were there. Shortly thereafter more visitors arrived. The group was not spotted immediately, but after word spread through the park most other people there gathered to watch the youngsters.

"Zippy," the chimpanzee, who amused the youngsters on their last trip with his activities, was brought out by Mrs. Kennedy Dick and showed how he can eat cereal from a bowl with a spoon, and then amused the youngsters when he decided that spoon was too slow for getting the milk out of the bowl and simply drank out of it like a cup.

EACH GOT TOYS

Both Caroline and John Jr. were amused again by conversations with "Mother Goose," the 18-foot replica of the children's rhyme "author," although Caroline seemed to be wondering a bit about the change in Mother Goose's voice. Attendants at the park speak through a microphone as "Mother Goose." Last time Anne Eisenhower was "Mother Goose." This time, unable to find anyone else available, owner Kenneth Dick had to be "Mother Goose" in a falsetto.

The youngsters bought toys as they left: John Jr. a toy airplane and a toy "wiggly-lizard." Caroline bought a bone china bird for her collection and an Indian tomahawk. Each received a plate-sized lollipop.

The Kennedys left the park about 5:30 Friday evening. Secret Service men enforced a "no pictures" rule during the outing.

FRANKLIN TWP. GRADUATES 55 FRIDAY NIGHT

George B. Inskip, the assistant superintendent of schools of Adams County, was the speaker Friday evening when the Franklin Twp. Elementary School at Cash-town handed diplomas to 55 Sixth Graders.

The diplomas were presented by President Thomas O. Oyler of the Franklin Twp. School Board to members of the graduating class. Awards were presented by the school principal, Hobart E. Benchoff, and there was special music by the school orchestra, chorus and band.

The Robert Mackley award in arithmetic was shared by Carol Sharrah and David Pickering and the John Chapman award of $15 for the top student was won by Roxy Ann Bream.

TALKS ON "CHOICES"

"Choice Making" was the theme of the address by Supt. Inskip. "The choices you make in the next six years of your education will determine greatly your type of life to follow," he said. "Use the many aids available to you, your parents, your church, your teachers, your library and other people and places to help make your choices in the future. Many of your choices to date have been made for you by parents, teachers and others. Plan now to begin Grade Seven in the fall with the daily practice of good choice making."

The graduation program opened with a procession of march. The invocation was given by the Rev. Fr. Louis Yeager, pastor of St. Ignatius Catholic Church, Buchanan Valley. Then the orchestra and chorus gave "All Through the Night," a Welsh folk tune. A band selection followed Mr. Inskip's address and awards and diplomas were presented. The class sang the "Alma Mater" and the benediction.

TROUBLE AT PARK

Mrs. Eyler, 202 Springs Ave., according to the borough police report, told police at 9 o'clock Friday night that her daughter, with a Miss Shafer of the Seminary was in the Recreation Park area when several colored boys, aged about seven, cut the tires of the two girls' bicycles. One youngster hurled a knife which struck Miss Shafer on the leg, according to the report.

File Damage Suit In Child's Death

Frances L. Brantner, as trustee ad litem, has brought an action in trespass in the county court against Paul E. Simpson, Middletown, as the result of a fatal accident June 5, 1962, on the Sunshine Trail 6 1/2 miles west of Fairfield. The law firm of Brown, Swope and MacPhail filed a summons in trespass for Mrs. Brantner in the prothonotary's office. A complaint listing details of the suit has not been filed.

News reports of June 6, 1962, show that Thomas Anthony Brantner, aged 6 1/2, Fairfield R. 1, was fatally hurt on the afternoon of June 5, 1962, when struck by a station wagon operated by Simpson.

According to news reports then, the child, a Second Grade student in the Fairfield school, was playing "pitch and catch" with a brother, Harry Brantner, 9, on the lawn of the Brantner home. The child reportedly went onto the highway in pursuit of a ball and was struck by the vehicle. Death was caused by internal injuries and a broken neck.

SEEK MAN WHO ATTEMPTED TO ATTACK WOMAN

State police today continued their search for a man who apparently attempted to rape a woman in the Knoxlyn area at 10:45 o'clock Friday morning and then fled when he learned the woman's husband was asleep on the second floor of the home.

Police said a man described as white, aged 30, six feet tall, weighing about 200 pounds, with short cut auburn hair, a pock-marked face, and a lump on his right cheek. He was wearing a light brown jacket, light trousers, and a low cut boot, rapped at the door of two homes in the Knoxlyn area.

At the first he asked whether a "Harry Cox" resided in the area. The woman who answered said she did not know and he left. At the second home he asked about a "Frank Cox." The woman started to answer when the man pushed open the door, told the woman that he had a gun in his pocket and ordered her upstairs.

AWAKENS HUSBAND

She went ahead of the man to her bedroom, knowing her husband, who works nights, was there. When she opened the door to the bedroom she ran to her husband screaming to awaken him. He arose and found the man fleeing down the steps. The husband chased the intruder but was unable to capture him.

The man drove a light blue car about 10 years old, possibly with Maryland license plates. Police said the registration plate on the car is placed higher than usual and might be a dealer's plate. The car has a dull light paint.

State police asked anyone who might have information on the case to call them at once. The offer or writing, may set the time and place they wish to meet the officers.

FRUITMEN TO HOLD MEETING

The third and final spring spray meeting of the Fruitgrowers' Association of Adams County will be held Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the Biglerville High School auditorium, President Paul Pitzer has announced.

At the session President Pitzer will also give details of the annual 4-H state fruitgrowers' summer meeting to be held at Treedale Farms, Mars, Pa. Busfare to and from the meeting will be $6 per person and a barbecued chicken dinner will be served the night of July 30 by the Hope Grange at a cost of $1.75 for adults, Pitzer has announced.

Members of the Adams County Fruitgrowers' Association planning to make the bus trip, eat the meal and make motel reservations are asked to contact either President Pitzer, Secretary-Treasurer Richard Slaybaugh or the Adams County Agricultural Extension Association before July 1.

SHORTAGE OF RAIN BUILDS UP DURING MAY

The month of May that opened with the coldest May 1 here in 41 years and 10 days later was setting heat records with readings in the 90's ended Friday far short of normal rainfall and with average temperatures that made it the coldest May here in seven years.

Gettysburg Times weather records show it was the third consecutive May with a rainfall shortage and the fourth month this year that was short of normal rainfall. Only March this year received more than normal precipitation.

Last month's shortage of rainfall followed the driest April 1 in 17 years and brought the 1963 rainfall shortage to 4.42 inches for the first five months. The total precipitation for the first five months is 12.7 inches.

WIDE RANGE

The high for the month was a 91 registered on the afternoon of May 10 and the day before that the mercury had climbed to 90. The low for the month was a 34-degree reading on May 13 but there were a number of frosts and rural areas had freezing temperatures that caused extensive damage to vegetables and some fruits.

The average daily high was 71.87 degrees for the month and the average low was 47.61. The month's average temperature was 59.74 degrees while normal May weather brings an average of 63.4 degrees.

Thunderstorms were recorded several times during the month but measurable amounts of rain fell on only six days. May rains totaled only 2.29 inches with 1.19 inches below the May normal of 4.19 inches.

VACATION PLAN LETS WORKERS VISIT BIG CITY

NEW YORK (AP) — A Mid-western legal secretary, Charlene Masters, wanted to try the life of a White Collar girl in the big city but was reluctant to sacrifice her good job for the experience.

A real estate secretary in the South, Betty Carson wanted to shop and view the new Broadway plays, but lacked the money to finance a stay in New York.

Both women, and more than 200 other secretaries, will work all or some of their vacations this summer in New York offices as a part of a secretary-vacation plan.

Hired by correspondence, the secretaries have agreed to work a minimum of a week but may remain throughout the summer, if they have that much time away from their jobs at home.

Thus Charlene will utilize her entire two weeks with pay serving as a secretary for a fashion magazine. Betty has arranged to spend only a part of her three weeks in an insurance office. With her money earned, she will shop and go to shows on the rest of her vacation time.

SUMMER JOBS

"There is a tremendous need for vacation replacement secretaries here in the summer," explains William Olsten who originated the plan four years ago as an outgrowth of his temporary employment service.

Oddly, school teachers rather than secretaries inspired it. So many wrote Olsten looking for brief employment while visiting here, that he pondered whether secretaries might also be interested in switching to New York offices on their vacations. Response to a few ads in newspapers across the country was enthusiastic.

Unlike other employment situations, the secretary must already have a job before she can get another.

"Most of the risk in hiring sight unseen is eliminated when the secretary is working. We have high standards. The girls must have currently operative skills."

Olsten himself hires the women, thus guaranteeing their jobs before they leave home. He services them out to clients who pay him in the same way that an account firm distributes their men to various businesses to work temporarily.

EQUAL SALARIES

The salaries are approximately equal to or possibly higher than their regular pay checks, Olsten says. Women who hold jobs in small towns or economically depressed areas, for example, may take home more pay in New York, while those from metropolitan areas may earn about the same rates as at home.

Although the secretary-vacation plan advises by mail about suitable women's residence hotels and rates, the secretaries are expected to pay their own living expenses and transportation to New York.

The plan has been so successful that Olsten is considering working out similar arrangements for secretaries who want to spend their vacations in business offices located in possibly Chicago, Atlanta and Washington, D. C.

Captain 'Salutes' Tampa Port Police

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — An Argentine ship captain, twice hauled into police court on charges of blowing soot onto Davis Island, gave Tampa a maritime Bronx cheer as he departed the last time.

Smarting under two heavy fines, the captain let loose his ire, as he passed through the ship channel close by the island, a well-to-do residential area. He blew his stacks.

Since the vessel was under way and headed for open sea, there was no way to make a third arrest. But police are patiently awaiting his return.

Steel Coin Boxes For Ohio Roads

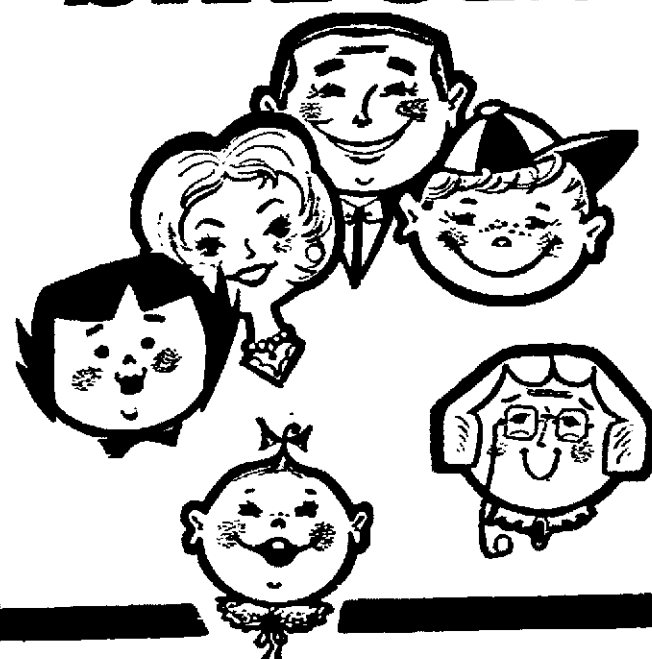

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Highways feels that pay telephones are essential in roadside parks along Ohio's interstate superhighways, but phone companies have complained of coin box robberies and vandalism. So the department is experimenting with strong steel cases for the phones.

The welded steel boxes were designed and produced by workers who understand what it takes to foil a thief, in workshops of Ohio Penitentiary at Columbus.

GAME GUY AWARD

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Kentucky High School Athletic Association gives an annual honor to the Kentucky youth showing the greatest effort to overcome a physical handicap, called the "Game Guy Award." The 1963 winner, David Leon Wood, 17, of Glasgow, suffered badly burned feet as a child but starred in high school football and basketball and also played baseball.

ADAMS WOULD GET $148,985 BY NEW BILL

Harry D. Ridinger, assemblyman from Adams County, today reported that the county's schools would receive an additional $148,985.45 in state subsidies this year under provisions of a $30,000,000 education bill now under consideration in the state House of Representatives.

The bill, House Bill 824, is an administration proposal designed to increase state subsidies to local school districts and is part of Gov. William W. Scranton's program for improvement of the state's educational system, Ridinger said. Amount of subsidy is based on instruction offered by each local school district.

The bill is sponsored by Reps. Edwin D. Eshleman, Lancaster County; Evan S. Williams, Bradford County; John Hope Anderson, York County, and Elisabeth S. Wynd of Wyoming County.

INCREASE IN GRANTS

Under provisions of the bill, the maximum instruction base subsidy would be increased from $5,800 to $6,400 per teaching unit in 1963-64 and then be upped to $6,800 in 1964-65, Ridinger said.

The estimated increase per district if the bill is approved is listed as: Conewago Twp., $2,350.74; Cumberland Twp., $11,024.69; East Berlin, $3,252.37; Fairfield, $2,216.52; Franklin Twp., $9,594.61; Germany Twp., $4,855.60; Gettysburg Merged, $12,982.82; Hamilton Twp., $8,032.27; Highland Twp., $2,189.98; Huntingdon Twp., $7,092.21; Liberty Twp., $5,389.58; Littlestown, $7,179.42.

HOFFA'S PAL IS RE-ELECTED TO UNION POST

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Anthony (Tony Pro) Provenzano, on trial on extortion charges, ruled his position "out of order" time and again Friday night and was unanimously re-elected president of the New Jersey Teamsters Joint Council 73.

The 46-year-old, well-dressed, husky-voiced Provenzano, a good friend of Teamsters International President James A. Hoffa, was re-elected for four more years.

Opposition was led by Milton J. Liss, president of Local 478 of Newark, who said the election should not be held until August.

Provenzano, who acted as chairman except during the nominations, ruled that his term had ended in May, and said elections had to be held last night. He threatened to eject Liss from the meeting for moving a postponement.

There was neither an opposition candidate nor vocal opposition to Provenzano when the voice vote was taken.

"I was very, very confident I would have no competition," Provenzano said following his election. "I felt I deserved the job."

Provenzano is on trial in federal court here on charges of extorting $17,100 from Dorn Transportation, Inc., of Rensselaer, N.Y., to insure labor peace.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents are investigating the slaying of Teamster Union shop steward Walter Glockner, 27, who was shot to death May 24 as he left his home in Hoboken, N.J., was a truck driver for Dorn Transportation at North Bergen and was a shop steward of Local 560. He was a foe of Provenzano.

FINE WEATHER GREET'S JUNE

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mild spring temperatures accompanied in many areas by rain marked the advent of June today. Fair weather covered an area from the lower Mississippi Valley northwestward through Maine, over the Southwest and most of California.

Elsewhere, showers and thunderstorms were prevalent. Temperatures in the 50s and 60s prevailed, with some isolated 40s and 80s. The cool 40s were reported in Missoula, Mont., and Phillipsburg, Pa. An 88 was recorded in Needles, Calif.

Rain which had plagued practically every sector of the nation abated, but retained enough strength to give many areas a sound dousing today. One of the heaviest falls was in the Texas panhandle northward through southwestern Kansas, where 6 inch was reported.

Some cooling developed through Montana southward into northern Utah as a cool front passed to the east. But the central and northern Plains encountered a warming trend. Muggy weather was predicted because of rising humidity with the increasing Gulf moisture brought northward by brisk southerly winds, especially in the central and upper Mississippi Valley.

KEEP VIGIL FOR PONTIFF

By BENNET M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The great crowds swelled and retreated during Pope John's dark night of survival, then filtered back silently at dawn today to continue the vigil in St. Peter's Square.

Through the night several hundred persons stood in knots about the slender obelisk rising from the center of the square.

Most were seminarians watching and praying. With the first light of day, Romans and tourists joined them. The crowd stared up expectantly when the window of the Pope's station, next to his bedroom, was opened in the hazy blue light just before dawn. But they saw no movement, no face, no voice.

Great swarms of swallows darted and swung high over the square as the dome of St. Peter's turned gold-flecked white in the sun's first strong rays.

"It's incredible," said the procurator-general of an order of priests who has spent a decade in Rome.

"I've never seen anything like these crowds. They know the greatness of this man—a Pope who has not an enemy in the world, neither East nor West, Christian nor non-Christian, as he leaves this world."

SUB PHOTOS BEFORE BOARD

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP)—

Pictures of the sunken submarine Thresher on the Atlantic Ocean bottom today were before the Navy Court of Inquiry seeking answers to the disaster which claimed 129 lives.

Capt. Frank A. Andrews, who has directed the search for the Thresher since she went down April 10, said the underwater pictures appear to indicate the submarine is in one piece but badly split at one point.

The Thresher's fatal dive was made in 8,400 feet of water some 220 miles off Boston. The accident occurred during a deep test dive following overhaul at the Portsmouth Navy Shipyard.

The pictures were made by a crew from the research vessel Robert D. Conrad which returned to Boston Friday with the photographs.

Efforts to make further pictures of the hull will be made by the bathyscaphe Trieste, the Navy said. The Trieste is scheduled to leave Boston Sunday for a closer look at the Thresher.

HASH SPEAKS ON THURSDAY

The annual Memorial Day services were held Thursday evening at New Oxford with Charles Hash, supervising principal of the Lower Adams schools, and an Air Force Reserve officer, as the speaker.

The program following the parade through the town was held in the New Oxford Square with several hundred attending.

"Memorial Day as a national observance is a beautiful and significant expression of a nation's thoughts and hopes," Hash said. "It is no glorification of war, nor is it a memorial to any war. But rather it is a remembrance of all who have fallen in defense of our country."

A parade at 6 o'clock Thursday night opened the exercises. The parade moved first to the Catholic Cemetery for military rites there, and strewing of flowers on the graves. The parade then moved to the New Oxford cemetery for similar military rites and strewing of flowers.

At the program following in the square Rev. John Kugle gave the invocation and Rev. Patrick O'Connor gave the benediction. C. P. Keefer, former county superintendent of schools, read Lincoln's Gettysburg Address. The Brodbeck band provided the music.

WARN FAITHFUL

Although brought to the brink of death, the Pope recognized his family and prelates around him, the Vatican said.

The Vatican announcement warned the world's half billion Roman Catholics not to cherish "any illusions." It said the Pope still lay near death.

A communique read in the Vatican press room at 7:45 a.m. said the Pope was being given oxygen again. It said he was dozing and that his pains had eased somewhat but still continued.

Shortly after, two of the three doctors attending the Pope left his apartment. This indicated they felt it was safe to step away from his bedside.

AIR BULLETINS

For hours the Vatican Radio had remained on the air saying the Pope was passing away and death was imminent. It broadcast bulletins on his condition every 15 minutes.

Then at 5:30 a.m. the radio, announcing it felt the immediate urgency had passed, went off the air.

At the Vatican and in churches around the world, Roman Catholics did not relax their prayers. Prelate after prelate said Mass in the studio outside the Pope's bedroom.

Hundreds knelt through the night in St. Peter's Square below the Pope's window. There had been thousands there Friday evening, but most had gone home without expecting the Pope to survive the night. Once more the crowds swelled as the sun came up.

REMAINS GRAVE

Vatican communiques warned that the Pope's condition remained grave. They added that his doctors felt that such a recovery of senses was not rare in cases of peritonitis, or inflammation of the abdomen.

Papal physicians blamed the sudden onslaught on peritonitis, on top of the Pope's stomach condition, for Friday's lightning deterioration.

Only a short time before, his doctors were voicing optimism about signs of improvement. They said that hemorrhages caused by his tumor had been stopped.

The rallying had seemed so positive on Thursday that his chief personal physician, Dr. Antonio Gasbarrini, had returned to his home in Bologna.

"STROLL WITH ME"

Let's take a stroll down yonder lane... beneath the shady trees... out to the open countryside... where blows a gentle breeze... come take my hand and we will go... to where a brook runs clear... and songbirds chirp the live-long day... a song of joy and cheer... do not delay, now is the time... to visit nature's nest... for all the earth has burst in bloom... and loo-s its love-lies... if we desire, we can rest... upon the moss-patched sod... while gazing on the azure sky... fashioned by hands of God... you will, I know, gain peace of heart... and special kind of glee... if you will only take the time... to take a stroll with me.

HASH SPEAKS ON THURSDAY

The annual Memorial Day services were held Thursday evening at New Oxford with Charles Hash, supervising principal of the Lower Adams schools, and an Air Force Reserve officer, as the speaker.

The program following the parade through the town was held in the New Oxford Square with several hundred attending.

"Memorial Day as a national observance is a beautiful and significant expression of a nation's thoughts and hopes," Hash said. "It is no glorification of war, nor is it a memorial to any war. But rather it is a remembrance of all who have fallen in defense of our country."

A parade at 6 o'clock Thursday night opened the exercises. The parade moved first to the Catholic Cemetery for military rites there, and strewing of flowers on the graves. The parade then moved to the New Oxford cemetery for similar military rites and strewing of flowers.

At the program following in the square Rev. John Kugle gave the invocation and Rev. Fr. Patrick O'Connor gave the benediction. C. P. Keefe, former county superintendent of schools, read Lincoln's Gettysburg Address. The Brodbeck band provided the music.

WARN FAITHFUL

Although brought to the brink of death, the Pope recognized his family and prelates around him, the Vatican said.

The Vatican announcement warned the world's half billion Roman Catholics not to cherish "any illusions." It said the Pope still lay near death.

A communique read in the Vatican press room at 7:45 a.m. said the Pope was being given oxygen again. It said he was dozing and that his pains had eased somewhat but still continued.

Shortly after, two of the three doctors attending the Pope left his apartment. This indicated they felt it was safe to step away from his bedside.

AIR BULLETINS

For hours the Vatican Radio had remained on the air saying the Pope was passing away and death was imminent. It broadcast bulletins on his condition every 15 minutes.

Then at 5:30 a.m. the radio, announcing it felt the immediate urgency had passed, went off the air.

At the Vatican and in churches around the world, Roman Catholics did not relax their prayers. Prelate after prelate said Mass in the studio outside the Pope's bedroom.

Hundreds knelt through the night in St. Peter's Square below the Pope's window. There had been thousands there Friday evening, but most had gone home without expecting the Pope to survive the night. Once more the crowds swelled as the sun came up.

REMAINS GRAVE
Vatican communiques warned that the Pope's condition remained grave. They added that his doctors felt that such a recovery of senses was not rare in cases of peritonitis, or inflammation of the abdomen.

Papal physicians blamed the sudden onslaught on peritonitis, on top of the Pope's stomach condition, for Friday's lightning deterioration.

Only a short time before, his doctors were voicing optimism about signs of improvement. They said that hemorrhages caused by his tumor had been stopped.

The rallying had seemed so positive on Thursday that his chief personal physician, Dr. Antonio Gasbarrini, had returned to his home in Bologna.

who was his assistant and is now administrative secretary to the director of alumni relations.

Dr. Clarence L. Raby of Philadelphia in accepting his plaque told of the first alumni dinner held during his term and which has become an annual affair. He quoted from a printed report of that first dinner meeting when Millard E. Glatfelter, then registrar of Temple University, was one of the committee that helped draw the report and said it was appropriate that Dr. Glatfelter "is our speaker tonight."

PORTS, PATRICK SPEAK
Then followed the two "War-Year" presidents, Horace Ports of York and William H. Patrick of Philadelphia. Each related incidents during their terms as president. Patrick recalled that the first loyalty fund goal of $10,000 went over the top with alumni contributing $12,000.

Dr. Fred R. Seibel of Baltimore, Md., who was president from 1947-1950, related how the first college choir recording was accomplished with the help of the late Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson.

President from 1950-1953, John A. Apple of Sunbury said he didn't recall any special incident during his term but he made a lot of contacts and friends for the college.

Jerry Arch of Philadelphia, president from 1953-1956, observed that the growth and expansion of the Alumni Association has reached beyond all expectations.

William H. B. Stevens of Harrisburg, president from 1956-1959, added that his efforts were devoted toward carrying on the good work of his predecessors.

Lavern Brennenman of York, immediate past president from 1959-1962, said, "It is a great honor to be up here with these gentlemen who have done so much for our Alma Mater."

The invocation was offered by the college chaplain, John W. Vannorsdall. The dinner ended with the singing of the Alma Mater led by William H. Patrick.

Harry D. Ridinger, assemblyman from Adams County, today reported that the county's schools would receive an additional $148,985.45 in state subsidies this year under provisions of a $30,000,000 education bill now under consideration in the state House of Representatives.

The bill, House Bill 824, is an administration proposal designed to increase state subsidies to local school districts and is part of Gov. William W. The bill is sponsored by Reps. Edwin D. Eshleman, Lancaster County; Evan S. Williams, Bradford County; John Hope Anderson, York County, and Elisabeth S. Wynd of Wyoming County.

INCREASE IN GRANTS

Under provisions of the bill, the maximum instruction base subsidy would be increased from $5,500 to $6,300 per teaching unit in 1963-64 and then be upped to $6,800 in 1964-65, Ridinger said.

The estimated increase per district if the bill is approved is listed as: Conewago Twp., $2,350.74; Cumberland Twp., $11,024.69; East Berlin, $3,252.37; Fairfield, $2,216.52; Franklin Twp., $9,594.61; Germany Twp., $4,535.60; Gettysburg Merged, $12,982.82; Hamiltonburg Twp., $8,032.27; Highland Twp., $2,139.92; Huntington Twp., $7,092.21; Liberty more Twp., $5,389.58; Littleton Twp., $3,126.03; Littlestown, $7,179.42.

HOFFA'S PAL IS RE-ELECTED TO UNION POST

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Anthony (Tony) Provenzano, on trial on extortion charges, ruled his opposition "out of order" time and again Friday night and was unanimously re-elected president of the New Jersey Teamsters Joint Council 13.

The 46-year-old, well-dressed, husky-voiced Provenzano, a good friend of Teamsters International President James A. Hoffa, was re-elected for four more years.

Opposition was led by Milton J. Liss, president of Local 478 of Newark, who said the election should not be held until August.

Provenzano, who acted as chairman except during the nomination, ruled that his term had ended in May, and said elections had to be held last night. He threatened to eject Liss from the meeting for moving a postponement.

There was neither an opposition candidate nor vocal opposition to Provenzano when the voice vote was taken.

"I was very, very confident I would have no competition," Provenzano said following his election. "I felt I deserved the job."

Provenzano is on trial in federal court here on charges of extorting $17,100 from Dorn Transportation, Inc., of Henssler, N.Y., to insure labor peace.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents are investigating the slaying of Teamster Union shop steward Walter Glockner, 27, who was shot to death May 24 as he left his home in Hoboken. Glockner was a truck driver for Dorn Transportation at North Bergen and was a shop steward of Local 560. He was a foe of Provenzano.

KEEP VIGIL FOR PONTIFF

By BENNET M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The great crowds swelled and retreated during Pope John's dark night of survival, then filtered back silently at dawn today to continue the vigil in St. Peter's Square.

Through the night several hundred persons stood in knots about the slender obelisk rising from the center of the square.

Most were seminarians watching and praying.

With the first light of day, Romans and tourists joined them.

The crowd stared up expectantly when the window of the Pope's studio, next to his bedroom, was opened in the hazy blue light just before dawn. But they saw no movement, no face, no voice.

Great swarms of swallows darted and swung high over the square as the dome of St. Peter's turned gold-flecked white in the sun's first strong rays.

"It's incredible," said the procurator-general of an order of priests who has spent a decade in Rome.

"I've never seen anything like this," the crowd knew the greatness of this man — a Pope who has not an enemy in the world, neither East nor West, Christian nor non-Christian, as he leaves this world."

Today's Talk

IT'S WHAT YOU DO
No man can be appraised in value other than through the background of his own character and by what he does.

The fine worthy life cannot be measured in the amount of money accumulated by that one or in terms of public acclamation, but wholly through the habits formed which have meant an abundant life, a life of service and activity — in things done that have been useful to others.

Indeed blessed is the man or woman who has found his or her work. In it, he or she finds himself or herself.

The man with great wealth never gets the thrill out of life that the one who has little does. The latter continually has wants in his mind — he is forever dreaming and enjoying the thrills which his enthusiasm creates.

With no incentive a man withers and becomes useless as a member of society. With it, he is forever discovering and pioneering. He is kept alive and full of spirit because he always has something to which he can look forward.

Tie yourself to nothing that digs a groove for you. Travel many roads. Deive into as many interesting activities as you can. It is far better to wear out than to rust out — he lives longest who does the most.

But don't expect happiness without some pain — often it means going through a great deal of pain and loss. Depend upon no one. Be responsible first to yourself for the job you have to do. People who please themselves by doing an efficient job are bound to please others.

It isn't what you have, what you own, or what people say about you — be it flattery or praise — it's what you do that counts all in all.

CORBETT JOINS MART MILNER ON 'ROUTE 66'

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—New man on "Route 66"—Glenn Corbett. He is, of course, cool, clean-cut, clever and all the other adjectives that describe the hero of a television adventure series. And so he has slid smoothly into the sports car seat beside Martin Milner.

That position was once occupied by George Maharis, who cut out from the show amid some acrimony. He claimed he was sick; the producers wondered. There wasn't time to argue the point; the essence of "Route 66" is that it must keep moving. Corbett was tired.

NEVER MET MAHARIS

He eschews any controversy with his predecessor.

"The company's problem with Maharis is the company's problem with Maharis," said the actor. "I've never even met him. I did get a telegram from him when I started my first filming on the show."

Threatening?

"No, no. It was very friendly. I wish me good luck and all of that."

Corbett isn't quite sure how he got the job.

"I'll have to ask Herb Leonard about that," he said, referring to the producer. "I suppose it had something to do with my being on 'It's a Man's World.'"

The latter is the NBC hour which lasted a mere 19 weeks this season despite strong support in some quarters.

LIKES TRAVELING

Corbett is unreserved in his praise of the "Route 66" assignment. He doesn't even mind the traveling.

"It's a great way to see the country," he enthused. "Our living conditions are good, and we get to work with some great actors who drop in as guest stars."

Corbett, an El Monte, Calif., boy who went right from college dramatics to top roles in Columbia Pictures like "Crimson Kimono" and "Mountain Road," will be hitting the road again soon. This time television's Rover Boys will head for Denver, Minneapolis, upstate New York and down the East Coast to Florida. Almost everywhere, it might be pointed out, except Route 66.

Business Group Wants Budget Cut

WASHINGTON (AP)—A businessmen's committee organized last month to rally support for President Kennedy's tax cutting plans has declared a reduction in its 1964 budget is "reasonable and practicable."

"We have had large, progressive increases in recent years and there is no justification for a continuation of the upward trend," the committee of industrialists and financiers headed by Henry Ford II said Thursday.

The businessmen did not say how much they thought the $98.8-billion budget for 1964, the largest in history, should be cut. However, they said they do not favor a reduction as great as the $10-billion tax cut they have recommended. The committee calls itself the Business Committee for Tax Reduction in 1963.

It is a portrait of French Cardinal Richelieu, painted by the French artist Philippe de Champaigne, who died in 1674.

The garbage men took the bed and left the bath. When the couple rushed to the garbage depot they discovered the bed had already been burned.

Seoul Leaders Ask Early Elections

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—The cabinet has proposed that presidential elections be held by Oct. 15 for a return to civilian government by the end of the year, Premier Kim Hyun-chul announced today.

The plan also calls for balloting for a national assembly a month after the presidential voting.

The cabinet proposal is subject to approval by the ruling military junta, whose chairman, Gen. Chong Hee Park, has been endorsed as presidential candidate by the junta-backed Democratic Republican party.

WRITER VIEWS CONFUSION IN STATE CAPITOL

By RICHARD L. GRAVES

HARRISBURG (AP)—Now that the primary election, the tax increase and all that confusion is out of the way, it is time for a clarification of what has been going on.

After all, says the dictionary, confusion is a state of great disorder, not a state of Pennsylvania government.

So, here we go through the looking glass into another cryptic analysis of state capital operations. First, the primary election.

QUESTION SCRANTON

Under inclusive questioning by reporters, Gov. Scranton offered this interpretation (from the transcript):

Q: On the ballot one Democrat was number three, which has no significance on position.

A: It's very much easier to find the number four, because it's the first.

Q: Number three was way below number one.

A: Yes, you had one and three, and then you had two and four, and one, two and three are all much easier to find than four.

Q: Governor, you're against lotteries then, aren't you?

A: (Silence).

Having cleared up that matter, the personalities of government turned to the ever-present problem of revenue, specifically the state's sales tax.

AID EDUCATION

It will be a comfort to citizens to know that they no longer are cursed with the old and burdensome 4 per cent sales and use tax. Instead, they now are helping the Commonwealth share the joys of financing education through "the tax act of 1963 for education."

There were some other changes, too.

The rate of the tax was boosted from 4 per cent to 5 per cent of the sales dollar, which clearly is a 25 per cent increase.

It was considerable of the lawmakers and administration to eliminate that ugly word "sales" (smacks of used car dealers and magazine pushers) and replace it with "education" (raises the image of schools, integrity and other good stuff).

BUY PEA SEEDS

While the lawmakers, administration and electorate busied themselves tearing up the pea patch, the Justice Department bought $7,394 worth of pea seeds, that's a lot of pea seeds. However, justice will be served.

Probably an oversight, but those pea seeds came from Moscow. (Moscow, Idaho, said the pea seed account listed on the auditor general's daily register).

Back in the House the lawmakers became so preoccupied with the working of the tax legislation that they overlooked the wording on the brand-new jackets of the 17 page boys.

On the embroidered breast pocket emblem the key word "representatives" was spelled "representatives."

The moral seems to be that things can go wrong in the House even when they're all sewed up.

MINOW QUILTS FCC POST FOR BIG SALARY

By LOUIS G. PANOS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Friday was the day Newton Minow deserted the New Frontier and rode off into the sunset, westward bound for Chicago and a little pot of gold.

At 37 and with five years still to go on his seven-year hitch as chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, he's chucking government service to join Encyclopaedia Britannica, Inc.

There seemed to be some mystery about the move until one of Minow's associates grew tired of being asked what for.

WON'T BE SAME "For $100,000 a year," he said. Without Minow as FCC chairman, Washington may never be the same, especially if the prayers of some broadcasters are heard.

His successor, E. William Henry, 34, it is true, takes over with the reputation of being just about as tough a regulator as Minow.

A lanky lawyer from Memphis, Tenn., Henry moves to the top after just eight months as an FCC member.

SHARES MINOW VIEWS He shares many of Minow's views about television.

He looks on much of the staple television fare — situation comedies, Westerns and whodunits — as unworthy of the amount of prime time devoted to it.

He believes that programs on public affairs, art, news and education can be entertaining and, therefore, palatable to both viewer and sponsor.

QUICK ACCOMPLISHMENTS And he's bent on reminding broadcasters that their license renewal will depend on how well they serve the public, not merely on whether they can turn a dollar in a ruggedly competitive business.

But even Henry admits that, however tough he turns out to be, his tenure is unlikely to produce the shock effect of Minow's reign.

The most important accomplishments of the FCC during that reign were, perhaps, those most quietly effected.

LONG REMEMBERED Through compromise, cajolery and cooperation, the agency helped push through legislation to set up a communications satellite corporation; to provide government aid for the creation of statewide educational television networks, and to give television elbow room for future growth by requiring that newly manufactured television sets be capable of receiving 12 channels instead of the usual 12.

Yet, there are some broadcasters who will remember Minow less for this than for the fact that during his chairmanship a record number of radio and television stations suffered fines or license revocations for violating FCC rules.

And even more are apt to remember him for his cutting description of television as "a vast wasteland."

Heads Hospital Staff In Tucson: Dr. Raymond Oyer, son of Mrs. Harvey J. Oyer, Gettysburg, R. 3, has been appointed chief of staff of St. Mary's Hospital, Tucson, Ariz. A native of Adams County, Dr. Oyer practiced medicine in Biglerville for several years before moving to Arizona nine years ago.

A graduate of Georgetown University School of Medicine, Dr. Oyer, who is 45, served his internship at Harrisburg General Hospital and began practicing medicine in Biglerville in 1933. He moved to Arizona in 1944 because of his health and became a member of the staff at St. Mary's Hospital after his arrival in Tucson. A 350-bed hospital, St. Mary's is the largest hospital in Arizona with over 200 physicians on the staff.

Dr. Oyer, who is specializing in internal medicine, is a member of the governing board and the advisory board of the hospital, is chairman of the committees of internal medicine and pharmacy and is an active member of the staff of the Tucson Medical Center and the Puma County Hospital staff. He is an executive director of the Thomas-Davis Clinic in Tucson, a private clinic which is one of 100 medical clinics in the Association of American Medical Clinics. He was recently elected to the Pharmacy Committee of American Medical Clinics.

/3C Robert W. Cole Helps Rescue Persons And Bodies From Tornado-Damaged Waco: A Gettysburgian, A/3C Robert W. Cole, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Cole, 51 E. Stevens St., who is stationed at the James Connally Air Force Base, near Waco, Tex., was one of hundreds of men from this base, soldiers, national guardsmen and volunteer workers who aided in the rescue efforts in Waco following the tornado of May 11 which killed approximately 40 persons, injured hundreds of others and caused property damage in excess of $10,000,000.

In a letter to his parents, written on May 14, Airman Cole says: "The tornado didn't touch the base, but the city of Waco looks like an 'A' bomb was dropped. We have been working day and night, and the Red Cross, Salvation Army and other organizations have been doing a fine job in keeping us supplied with food, dry clothing, cigarettes, etc. It has been raining hard ever since the tornado hit and there has been a shortage of raincoats and work gloves."

"I got a couple of hours sleep last night, but I am going back in to help clear the debris and get bodies out. There were about 20 or 30 in a pool hall when it hit and I helped dig ten out of there. Connally (AFB) is in there in force and Ft. Hood from Temple have come down to help out too. We got a few live ones out Monday night but there is little hope now that anyone remaining is alive."

"The tornado didn't give much warning and when the buildings started to collapse anyone that was in there was buried under tons of brick and wood. Believe me, I have never seen anything like this in my life."

George Lazos Breaks His Leg In Greece: George Lazos, 74 E. Water St., proprietor of the F and T Restaurant, York St., who left Gettysburg on April 14 for his native Greece to visit his former home and friends there, has had his return to Gettysburg delayed. Mr. Lazos was on a visit to a remote village in the high mountain area north of Athens where there is no transportation except by muleback. He was kicked by a mule, according to word received by his family, and his leg broken. He was taken to a hospital in Athens, where the bone was set and a cast applied. He

GROWING WISE

The day I turned sixteen I thought
No question could arise
To baffle me, and that I ought
To offer counsel wise.
I marveled much at each mistake
The other fellow used to make.

At twenty I was clever still
At least I seemed to be,
I thought no other one could fill
The place assigned to me,
But I admitted, now and then
I blundered, too, like other men.

And when I'd come to twenty-two
More carefully I walked,
I'd lost that faith in what I knew,
Especially when I talked,
I'd learned that wiser men than I
Were slow to state or to deny.

At thirty I had come to see
Where I'd been blind in youth
I'd found it difficult to be
Full-certain of the truth,
Thought I: the wiser that I grow
It seems to me the less I know.

Now should I reach three-score
and ten,
With faculties still clear,
I know I shall not know off then
What in my sixteenth year
I thought I knew. Which I surmise,

Is what is meant by growing wise.

Erect Sign On Hospital Lawn: A 12-foot sign, three feet high, the gift of the Exchange Club of Gettysburg, was being erected today on the lawn in front of the Warner Hospital.

It bears the words "Annie M. Warner County Hospital," in gold letters on a green background, and was built and painted by Eugene S. Sickles.

The word "county" was included on the sign at the request of the Board of Directors of the hospital, who pointed out that it is a county institution, not restricted to Gettysburg only.

Erection of the sign was another of the projects of the Exchange Club, adopted with the thought that many persons from out of town, who came to visit patients at the hospital, do not know its location. There was previously no sign in front of the buildings.

The club plans to hold ceremonies later presenting the sign to the Board of Directors.

MUSIAL WINS
FOR CARDS ON
WEIRD POP-UP

By JIM HACKLEMAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

Stan Musial has batted in 1,921 runs. And No. 1,921 might rank as the oddest of The Man's career.

Musial got it Friday night with an infield pop up that went for an out but produced a sweet victory for St. Louis' fast-climbing Cardinals. Curt Flood scored on the weird play, giving the Cards a 6-5 triumph over front-running San Francisco that boosted them into second place in the National League.

Musial came up in the last of the ninth inning with the bases loaded and none out, and the game tied at 5-5. He hit the pop up and was declared out under the infield fly rule since the umpire judged the ball could be caught by an infielder, although it fell among four Giants.

WIN 4TH STRAIGHT

The Cards won their fourth straight and moved to within two lengths of the Giants.

Cincinnati dropped Los Angeles to third, one-half game behind St. Louis, by clipping the Dodgers 7-4.

Also in the NL — Don Schwall's four-hit pitching and Jerry Lynch's two-run homer carried Pittsburgh over the New York Mets 2-0; airtight relief work by Lindy McDaniel preserved the Chicago Cubs' 2-1 victory over Philadelphia, and the Houston Colts beat Milwaukee 3-2 with two unearned runs behind Ken Johnson's four-hitter.

WINS 7TH STRAIGHT

Vada Pinson, Bob Skinner, Leo Cardenas and Don Pavletich shared batting honors for the Reds as right-hander Jim Maloney won his seventh against two losses.

Pinson homered and singled, Skinner got three hits, Cardenas knocked in two runs with singles, and Pavletich poked a bases-loaded single in the three-run fifth inning that gave the Reds a 6-3 lead.

Schwall made his record 3-2 and posted his second shutout, allowing the Mets only four singles. Carl Willey checked the Pirates on two hits before Lynch rapped his homer in the seventh following a walk to Bill Mazeroski.

McDaniel replaced winner Bob Buhl with the bases full and one out in the eighth inning of the Cubs-Phillies squeaker, stopped that threat cold, and blanked the Phils in the ninth. Lou Brock's double in the third and Ron Santo's single in the fourth drove in the Cub runs off Chris Short.

The Colts netted only two singles against Bob Shaw and were held hitless by Milwaukee relievers Tony Cloninger and Ron Piche, but edged the Braves with the two unearned runs. Shaw's error helped Houston to a run in the first and the Colts made it 3-0 in the fourth on a two-run single by John Bateman.

Hank Aaron belted his 16th homer in the sixth after a single by Lee Maye, accounting for Milwaukee's run production.

MUSIAL WINS
FOR CARDS ON
WEIRD POP-UP

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Stan Musial has batted in 1,921 runs. And No. 1,921 might rank as the oddest of The Man's career.

Musial got it Friday night with an infield pop up that went for an out but produced a sweet victory for St. Louis' fast-climbing Cardinals. Curt Flood scored on the weird play, giving the Cards a 6-5 triumph over front-running San Francisco that boosted them into second place in the National League.

Musial came up in the last of the ninth inning with the bases loaded and none out, and the game tied at 5-5. He hit the pop up and was declared out under the infield fly rule since the umpire judged the ball could be caught by an infielder, although it fell among four Giants.

WIN 4TH STRAIGHT
The Cards won their fourth straight and moved to within two lengths of the Giants.

Cincinnati dropped Los Angeles to third, one-half game behind St. Louis, by clipping the Dodgers 7-4. Also in the NL — Don Schwall's four-hit pitching and Jerry Lynch's two-run homer carried Pittsburgh over the New York Mets 2-0; air-tight relief work by Lindy McDaniel preserved the Chicago Cubs' 2-1 victory over Philadelphia, and the Houston Colts beat Milwaukee 3-2 with two unearned runs behind Ken Johnson's four-hitter.

WINS 7TH STRAIGHT

Vada Pinson, Bob Skinner, Leo Cardenas and Don Pavletich shared batting honors for the Reds as right-hander Jim Maloney won his seventh against two losses.

Pinson homered and singled, Skinner got three hits, Cardenas knocked in two runs with singles, and Pavletich poked a bases-loaded single in the three-run fifth inning that gave the Reds a 6-3 lead.

Schwall made his record 3-2 and posted his second shutout, allowing the Mets only four singles. Carl Willey checked the Pirates on two hits before Lynch rapped his homer in the seventh following a walk to Bill Mazeroski.

McDaniel replaced winner Bob Buhl with the bases full and one out in the eighth inning of the Cubs-Phillies squeaker, stopped that threat cold, and blanked the Phils in the ninth. Lou Brock's double in the third and Ron Santo's single in the fourth drove in the Cub runs off Chris Short.

The Colts netted only two singles against Bob Shaw and were held hitless by Milwaukee relievers Tony Cloninger and Ron Piche, but edged the Braves with the two unearned runs. Shaw's error helped Houston to a run in the first and the Colts made it 3-0 in the fourth on a two-run single by John Bateman.

Hank Aaron belted his 16th homer in the sixth after a single by Lee Maye, accounting for Milwaukee's run production.

OSINSKI AND ANGELS WHIP
ORIOLES 7-4

By MIKE RATHET

Nobody's about to fill Bo Belinsky's brogans, but by a strange quirk of fate Dan Osinski may wind up taking his place.

Osinski, involved in the controversial trade in which Belinsky was ticketed for a train ride to Kansas City, combined with rookie Charley Dees and led the Los Angeles Angels to a 7-4 victory over Baltimore Friday night. A 29-year-old right-hander, Osinski was sold by the A's to the Angels last year. In return, Los Angeles was supposed to hand over Belinsky at the end of the season, but Commissioner Ford vetoed the move because of its irregular procedure.

NAMED STARTER

Osinski, however, remained an Angel. And now that Bo's been dropped, he's been thrust into the starting rotation. The victory against the Angels was Osinski's first in the majors as a starter. Dees, brought up from Hawaii the day Belinsky was sent down, supplied the punch with three hits, including a homer in the fifth inning that proved decisive. The defeat dropped the Orioles into a tie with New York for the American League lead.

The Yankees closed the gap by whipping Cleveland 4-0 behind Whitey Ford's three-hitter on a pitchers' night.

TWINS TRIMMED

Jim Bunning checked Minnesota on seven hits for a 3-1 Detroit victory that ended the Twins' 10-game victory string, the third-place Chicago White Sox blanked Boston 6-0 on John Buzhardt's three-hitter and Orlando Pena allowed only five hits and hit a grand slam homer in Kansas City's 9-3 walloping of Washington.

Ford didn't need much support but he got it all from two swings as both Tom Tresh and Elston Howard connected for two-run homers off Indians' starter Jim Grant. Singles by Jerry Kindall in the third, Joe Azcue in the eighth and Vic Davallio in the ninth were the only hits off Ford, now 6-3.

Bunning, dealing the Twins only their second defeat in 14 games, had a shutout going until Earl Battey homered in the ninth. The Tigers put it away against Jim Perry with three runs in the fourth. Gus Triandos' bases-loaded singles scored two and Rocky Colavito's sacrifice fly the other.

Buzhardt brought his record to 5-2 for the White Sox. Floyd Robinson and Mike Hershberger each singled home a run in the first two innings before Chicago built its bulge to 5-0 with a three-run third inning spurt that knocked out Red Sox starter Gene Conley.

Pena, 5-5, hit his grand slam in a six-run fifth inning uprising that put the A's ahead to stay. Ed Charles and George Alusk also homered for Kansas City, while Larry Osborne, Don Lock and Jim King connected for the Senators, who lost their 18th game in 20 starts.

GETTYSBURG
LITTLE LEAGUE

Behind the three-hit pitching of Randy Pihel, the Lions romped to an 18-3 win over the Moose Friday evening on the Little League diamond.

Pihel struck out 15 batters as his team supported him with a trio of five-run innings to keep the Moose from ever threatening. The Moose tallied all three of their runs in the top of the fifth when Todd and Ayre drew walks, Steve Williams followed with a single sending in Todd and Carl Swinn drilled a double to left driving in both Ayre and Williams.

Three Moose hurlers were utilized during the contest with McGlaughlin starting and getting the loss.

The Rotary and Glenn L. Bream will clash Monday evening at 6:15.

EASTERNERS
OFF FORM FOR TRACK SCRAP

By JIM BECKER

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The East, hampered by cranky spring weather, will not make much of a splash in the national collegiate track championships at New Mexico June 13-15.

That was clear from the results of the 87th IC4A meet at Randall's Island—site of the 1964 Olympic tryouts—Friday and today.

Most of the athletes were far off top form in Friday's trials, and some of those who did the best will not be making the trip to Albuquerque.

Yale's Wendell Mottley, a junior from Trinidad who attempted a 220-440 double, will be going to England for the Yale-Harvard meet against Oxford and Cambridge. So will Yale's Bob Mack, a fine two-miler, and Harvard's John Bakkenes, the East's best discus thrower.

TOP HALF-MILER

Villanova's Noel Carroll, sophomore from Ireland, is the best eastern bet at the NCAA. The crack half-miler has a 1 minute, 47.5 seconds effort, best in the nation.

The IC4A demonstrated that the 880 is the race where the East is deepest. Frank Tomoe of Fordham, Ed Duchini of Georgetown, Tom Kenney of Fordham and Dick Smith of Maryland are all top runners at the distance.

George Desnoyers of Boston College and Bruce Frost of Bowdoin are among the top eastern hammer throwers. This event is an eastern monopoly and the national winner probably will come from the IC4A.

NYU's Gary Gubner remains far off form in both the shot put and the discus. He has been hampered by the rain spring.

EYE TITLE AGAIN

Villanova emerged from Friday's trials with its already outstanding chances for a fourth straight title considerably enhanced.

The Wildcats qualified all their important entrants in the 13 trial events, nine men in all, plus their mile relay team.

Maryland grabbed 12 places plus a relay spot to pose a surprise threat. Manhattan also had nine and a relay team, and Morgan State and Yale eight each. Morgan State had its favored relay team in today's final, too.

All 18 finals were scheduled for today. Much of Villanova's strength was in events where no trials were held.

Rotation Grazing Helps Grass-legume Mixtures

By THOMAS E. PIPER
Adams County Farm Agent

For pastureland improved by renovation, and on good cropland pasture, a sound rotational grazing system is generally the most efficient method for using high producing grass-legume mixtures.

Tom Piper

In studies, conducted by Dr. John B. Washko of the Pennsylvania State University, a mixture of alfalfa and S-37 orchard grass when grazed, using a rotational system of grazing, was the top yielding mixture and persisted for five grazing years. Other good mixtures were birds-foot trefoil, timothy, and bluegrass; and birds-foot trefoil—reed canary grass. Ladino clover-brome grass mixtures, have also given top pasture yields when grown on soils with a high moisture-holding capacity.

In Washko's studies, he was able to graze the equivalent of 30 animal units for a full season on 20 acres of well fertilized legume-grass mixtures, plus four acres of sudan grass for supplemental summer pasture.

ROTATE PASTURES

For efficient use of rotational grazing, at least five or six pasture paddocks of similar size should be available. Thus, for a 30-cow herd, six improved pastures of four to five acres each would be excellent. Each pasture should have species that reach pasture growth stages at different dates. This assures plenty of pasture through the year. Early spring surplus pasture can be ensiled for supplemental midsummer feed.

Strip grazing, zero grazing and stored feeding are more intensive methods of pasture management and may be preferred to rotational grazing under certain conditions. More cows can be carried on fewer acres with these methods, but they require somewhat more labor and management.

If your pastures are like most, they'll probably need help from supplemental pasture. Either sudan grass or one of the sudan-sorghum hybrids provides the best summer seeded annual pasture crop.

The sudan sorghum hybrids have generally outyielded Piper sudan by two or more tons of dry matter per acre per year. On the other hand, hybrids are coarser and generally have a higher prussic acid potential. Thus, Piper is generally safer where cows do the actual grazing. However, for green chop, where the crop is allowed to reach a height of three feet or more before cutting, the hybrids are perfectly safe and provide a much greater forage yield.

WARM WEATHER CROPS

Sudan grass, or the sudan sorghum hybrids, seeded at the rate of 30 pounds per acre, will generally be ready to graze or chop six to seven weeks after planting. They are warm weather crops and should not be seeded until the soil is warm, probably June 1 or later. They can be planted as late as July 1 but do not produce top yields when seeded this late.

How much should you plant? Under normal conditions, when grown primarily for supplemental summer pasture or green chop, we recommend planting about one acre of sudan for each four to five mature animals you want to graze. When considering these crops for silage, green feeding or hay, you can expect a yield of about 10 tons of green forage or three tons of dry hay per acre.

Sudan grass responds very much like corn to a complete mixed fertilizer. It will produce the highest yields, be more evenly grazed and better utilized if divided into two or more areas, each being grazed in rotation and given a chance to recover. Plantings may also be staggered at seven to 10-day intervals to even out the grazing season.

Do not turn cattle on sudan grass until it is about 18 inches tall. If properly managed, two or three grazing periods are possible during a season. A similar fertility and management program can be followed for hybrids grown for green chop, except that plants should reach a height of three feet before chopping begins.

High quality pasture from tall growing perennial grass legume mixtures or silage made from surplus early pasture is normally more economical than sudan grass. This is provided that there is enough of these mixtures to maintain steady forage production through the summer. If pasture is normally scarce on your farm in July and August sudan grass can be a valuable crop.

P. T. SHARPLES QUILTS HIS GOP FINANCE POST

HARRISBURG (AP)—Philip T. Sharples, the Philadelphia industrialist who long has been a power in Republican state politics, resigned Friday as chairman of the GOP State Finance Committee.

The surprise announcement was made by Gov. Scranton's office. At the same time, GOP State Chairman Craig Truax designated Frank McGlynn, 48, Haverford, as Sharples' successor, effective July 1.

The 74-year-old Sharples had served as finance chairman for state Republicans since 1960, his second go-round in the job. Previously he had held the post from 1950 to 1954.

There was no reason given for his resignation, which was submitted in a letter to Truax. The letter indicated Sharples planned to retain a degree of activity in GOP politics.

"I am sure you know that whenever I am available, I will always do anything that I can to help this committee which meant so much to me," Sharples wrote.

Scranton's comment on the resignation was:

"Phil Sharples cannot resign without my personal commendations for the tremendous service he has performed for the Republican party. He has given unstintingly of his time, energies and financial assistance."

McGlynn, currently the vice president of the Fidelity Philadelphia Trust Co., has an extensive background in GOP state politics. He served on the State Executive Committee from 1948 to 1950; founded the State Federation of Young Republican Clubs in 1949; served as national vice president of the Young Republican Federation from 1951-52.

SERVED OTHER POSTS

He also served as vice chairman of the State Finance Committee from 1963 to 1966.

Most recently, he served as vice chairman of the Pennsylvania Citizens Committee for Scott and McGonigle during the 1958 gubernatorial and senatorial campaign. The Haverford man, married, is a graduate of the University of North Carolina and the University of Pennsylvania Law School. A Navy lieutenant on a mine

Eisenhower had inspected the 675-man brigade before accepting the presentation made by First Cadet Capt. John L. Geoghegan, Pelham Manor, N.Y.

The former President also presented awards for distinguished military and academic achievements to 12 cadets.

He came to the campus in response to an invitation from the cadet brigade, which asked to be inspected during its pre-commencement parade. Graduation exercises will be held Sunday.

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ont. (AP)—Mrs. Grace MacLellan, 68, author of several novels and non-fiction books, died in a hospital Friday after a long illness. Mrs. MacLellan gained prominence in 1942 with her first novel, "Thorn Apple Tree."

NEW YORK (AP)—Songwriter Alfred B. Koppell, 65, composer of the well-known ditty, "Popeye the Sailorman," died Friday in his Broadway office. Koppell, a native of New York, also wrote the words and music for "Singapore Sal," one of the first songs used in motion pictures.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Edith Hamilton, 95, author of books on classical themes, died Friday night in her home, apparently of a heart attack. Miss Hamilton, a native of Dresden, Germany, was headmistress at Bryn Mawr School in Baltimore for more than 25 years. SOLD "PEP" PILLS; FINED

HARRISBURG (AP)—Dr. Edward C. Ellison, 41, a Hummelstown osteopath, was fined $500 and costs Friday after he was found guilty of selling "pep pills" to a Dickinson College senior.

He also was placed on probation for one year by Judge G. Thomas Miller, who told him he was guilty of "professional irresponsibility."

A jury of eight women and four men deliberated for almost two hours before returning with the guilty verdict.

Ellison's trial came about after the arrest of Thomas M. Jacks of Hummelstown, the college senior, on a charge of illegal possession of a dangerous drug. He is currently awaiting trial on the charge.

Jacks said he purchased the tablets from Ellison, state police said.

Ellison testified that he sold weight-reducing capsules to Jacks, but thought he was using them for himself. He also said he did not know he was violating the state's Drug Act.

Capture Robber On Crowded Street

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Two men captured a robber on a crowded downtown Pittsburgh street Friday, but thought he was using them without waiting for thanks, police said.

Officers said the unidentified men collared Gerald Winkle, 29, an ex-convict, a few seconds after he pushed a woman tavernkeeper to the sidewalk and dashed off with an envelope containing $400 bank deposit.

The two men grabbed Winkle and held him while passers-by hailed a policeman who took Winkle into custody.

RECOVER BODIES

FREEDOM, Pa. (AP)—Divers recovered the bodies of two boys from a Beaver County lake early today.

Police identified the drowning victims as John Reposky III, 10, and Gary Weibel, about 10, both of Economy.

The bodies were pulled from Stephen Lake in New Sewickley Twp. near the Butler County line. Details on how the boys got into the lake were not learned immediately. They were reported missing Friday.

3 STUDENTS FINED $100

CARLISLE, Pa. (AP)—It cost three fraternity members at Dickinson College $100 each Friday to learn it doesn't pay to take things—like a cannon barrel—from historic monuments.

The three students each were fined $100 after pleading guilty to a charge of malicious mischief resulting from the theft of the barrel from a Revolutionary War cannon at Molly Pitcher's grave here.

The students were identified as Harry R. Marien, 19, Darien, Conn.; George Thomas, 18, Springfield Township, Delaware County; and John T. Friedrich, 20, Ocean City, N.J. They are members of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Police said Friedrich, the fraternity treasurer, was not a participant in the theft, but was charged as an accessory.

Molly Pitcher is a famed heroine of the Revolutionary War. A monument in her honor is erected at Carlisle.

The barrel was missing since May 19, although its absence was not discovered until May 24, police said.

Bride-to-be Says Leopard Must Go

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—A wedding bed is no place for a pet leopard, says Patricia Spades.

And unless Tinker Bell, a 10-week-old leopard, learns to sleep in a cage, Miss Spades' marriage to Frank Michelberger is off.

Tinker Bell only likes to sleep with her master.

"Patricia and Tinker Bell just don't seem to hit it off right," said Michelberger Thursday. "I just wanted to see how far one could go to make a wild animal tame."

"I like the little stinker," countered Patricia, "but I'm darned if it's going to sleep in our bed." Michelberger didn't enlighten newsmen as to his next move.

The Houston Colts won 11 of 18 games from the Chicago Cubs in 1962 and finished six games ahead of the Cubs in the National League.

CONG. WALTER PASSES AWAY

By FRANK E. TAYLOR
WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Francis E. Walter, 69, chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, died Friday after serving in the House longer than any Pennsylvania Democrat.

Walter, who was elected to a 16th consecutive term last Nov. 6, had been confined to Georgetown University Hospital for several weeks. His death was attributed to leukemia, cancer of the blood.

President Kennedy said in a statement:

"I am saddened to hear of the death of Congressman Francis E. Walter. When I saw him on my recent visit to the hospital he was facing the future with the same faith and courage he had shown throughout his life. He will be greatly missed in the House of Representatives and all his friends mourn his passing."

WAS IN COMA

Jack Yohe, an aide to the congressman, said Walter had been in a coma most of Friday. His physician, Dr. Darrell C. Crain, announced on May 22 that tests showed Walter was suffering from leukemia.

Walter's death and the death earlier this year of Rep. Clyde Doyle, D-Calif., puts Rep. Edwin E. Willis, D-La., in line to become chairman of the Un-American Activities Committee.

The House lineup now becomes 276 Democrats and 177 Republicans, with two vacancies.

Walter, whose home was in Easton in eastern Pennsylvania, was co-author of the controversial McCarran-Walter immigration act. He ranked eighth in seniority in the House and second on the Judiciary Committee. He was re-elected this year as Democratic Caucus chairman and was chairman also of the Democratic Patronage Committee in the House.

$100,000 FOR TV

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—WHYY, Delaware Valley's educational television station, has received a $100,000 contribution from CBS Television, Inc.

The gift was announced Thursday after an exchange of letters between William Goldman, WHYY president, and Dr. Frank Stanton, CBS president.

THEIR BEST GIRL

"Daddy, Daddy," a tow-headed five-year-old streaked from the front room, landed in Rick's lap, and gave him a hug and asked, "How do you spell 'misadventure'?" (Acknowledging that he had on a Mickey Mouse cap one could see where the misadventure started.)

"My instant family," explained a joyous Rick introducing Steven, "There's another just like him but twice as old, that's Bobby who's still glued to the TV set."

Sending that we were going to talk "Combat" with Steven took off and darted back to join his brother in front of the TV set, "While all these hazardous land mine business have there been any injuries?" Well, yes.

The acknowledged Rick trying to stave the subject off with what turned out to be a shoulder still painful from something that went boom too soon. "However," he concluded cheerfully, proud of a good record, "I am the only casualty so far."

Special "Father's Day" honors have been bestowed on Pauline Frederick, NBC's United Nations correspondent, who was named "Woman of the Year" by the National Father's Day Committee. "Television Father of the Year" honors went to a co-worker of Miss Frederick's on the NBC news staff, Chet Huntley. Named Rotten Father of the Year is Don McNeill, of ABC's "Broadway" first Chet," who's also on television. These days in a Sunday afternoon quiz.

Combat

ery last amateur thing I ever did, but to me it's a pleasant blur with one exception. In elementary school I played the ghost in Dickens' 'Christmas Carol.' I remember going to a junk yard and getting some old tire chains to rattle and I remember covering my face thick with flour."

Just as well he got used to realism early: with "Combat" it's mandatory. In fact Rick, Vic Morrow and featured members of the cast had to go through military re-indoctrination at Ford Ord before commencing the series. Their course compressed four or five weeks of basic training into just days "and compared to the things we go through on the set that seems like a Scout meeting."

"Is it all done on set?" "No, no," Rick answered. "Sometimes we need lots of space and go on location. But when I say 'set' don't get me wrong. That's the back lot of MGM and that's pretty big." He went on to explain there is a series "of little French villages and a quay and a bridge built for an old Jeanette MacDonald-Nelson Eddy movie," which were ideal for the ETO setting of "Combat." "These wonderful sets had been standing since 1935. Then our show came along and blew up $25,000 worth of it. Worst of all, it had to be rebuilt."

MANY REHEARSALS

"The prop department does a beautiful job ... all we have to do is be absolutely right in our timing. We often rehearse a good six times. The charges in our land mines are supposed to be too slight to be fatal but you could certainly break a leg."

"Daddy, Daddy," a tow-headed five-year-old streaked from the next room, landed in Rick's lap, gave him a hug and asked, "How do you spell 'musketeer'?" (Considering that he had on a Mickey Mouse cap one could see where the puzzlement started.)

"My instant family," explained a joyous Rick introducing Steven. "There's another just like him but twice as old, that's Bobby who's still glued to the TV set. And all of us ate Geminis."

Jutta in her softly accented speech took a turn at spelling

"musketeer." A former "Miss Germany" she came to the United States in 1947. Her first marriage was to a network executive now deceased.

Sensing that we were going to talk "Combat" again, Steven took off and darted back to join his brother in front of the TV set. "With all this hazardous land mine business have there been any injuries?" "Well ... yes," acknowledged Rick trying to shrug the subject off with what turned out to be a shoulder still painful from something that went boom too soon. "However," he concluded cheerfully, proud of a good record, "I am the only casualty so far."

THEIR BEST GIRL

Special "Father's Day" honors have been bestowed on Pauline Frederick, NBC's United Nations correspondent ... who was named "Woman of the Year" by the National Father's Day Committee. "Television Father of the Year" honors went to a co-worker of Miss Frederick's on the NBC news staff, Chet Huntley. Named Radio Father of the Year is Don McNeill, of ABC's "Breakfast Club" who's also on television these days in a Sunday afternoon summer season quiz.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

"Combat," Starring Rick Jason Is Signed For Second Television Year

"Combat" star Rick Jason, shown here with Ellen Willard in an episode from ABC's Tuesday night World War II series, was delighted to find that women are avid viewers. He was at first afraid the series would appeal only to veterans, is glad to say he was wrong.

By RUTH E. THOMPSON

"I didn't leave my heart in San Francisco, I brought her with me," was the way Rick Jason, star of ABC's Tuesday night "Combat" series, rewrote the popular lyric to suit — or more aptly, to fit — himself. His wife of three months sent a smiling comment from her side of the table, beginning of the "new" 1963-64 season. (There will be no break in the viewers' schedule, though.) They were sandwiching the New York trip into the few weeks between the end of the "old or 1962-63 film schedule and the June 3 beginning of the "new" 1963-64 season. (There will be no break in the viewers' schedule, though.) Their day was starting early — with an interview over breakfast in their Hampshire House suite overlooking Central Park West. "And it's going to be a long day, too," added native New Yorker-Rick, "because my parents are planning a celebration for us tonight."

LOW-KEY HUMOR

The mood was one of low-key good humor with the six-foot-four, dark and handsome Rick relaxing in a natural silk robe over matching pajamas and his fair-haired wife in a black peignoir. The luxury of the silver service and the Louis XV decor were in marked contrast to the mire and tension of "Combat."

"Once I get back it's all day, every day," Rick said ... and the day's work begins at dawn. "No, there's no time out to make a movie." He knew the role would be that demanding ... that's why "I said no at first."

The producer mentally saw Jason, and only Jason, as Lt. Gil Hanley. Rick was reluctant. "My major objection — my only objection in fact — was that I didn't realize how wide its appeal would be. I assumed, for example, that women wouldn't watch war stories. The producers pointed out that I was wrong. I was!" He finds out just how wrong whenever women fans come up to him exclaiming over the series. "Wives of men who served overseas tell me that while their husbands re-live war experiences through our series they themselves gain insight."

BIG DECISION

Confining himself strictly to "Combat" was a big decision to make. Rick's career was a smashing success — plaudal-faced variety. He'd starred as Robin Scott in the "Dangerous Robin" investigator series, there were starring roles in movies and in the top TV dramatic shows. Now of course he's delighted with the series and glad he made the trade.

Rick had planned to be a stock broker, "though I'd always liked acting," when World War II snatched him right out of prep school into the Air Force. By the time he got out of the service he'd thought it through clearly and it was to heck with Wall St. He enrolled at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts with summer stock, television and Broadway following in rapid succession. Hume Cronyn talked him up for his first major role in Benjamen's "Now I Lay Me Down to Sleep" (which won him a Theater World Award).

PLEASANT BLUR

"When did I start to act? I'll bet my mother could tell you even."

Rotation Grazing Helps Grass-legume Mixtures

By THOMAS E. PIPER
Adams County Farm Agent

Tom Piper

For pastureland improved by renovation, and on good cropland pasture, a sound rotational grazing system is generally the most efficient method for using high producing grass-legume mixtures.

In studies, conducted by Dr. John B. Wasiko of the Pennsylvania State University, a mixture of alfalfa and S-37 orchard grass when grazed, using a rotational system of grazing, was the top yielding mixture and persisted for five grazing years.

ROTATE PASTURES

For efficient use of rotational grazing, at least five or six pasture paddocks of similar size should be available. Thus, for a 30-cow herd, six improved pastures of four to five acres each would be excellent. Each pasture should have species that reach pasture growth stages at different dates. This assures plenty of pasture through the year. Early spring surplus pasture can be utilized for supplemental midsummer feed.

Strip grazing, zero grazing and stored feeding are more intensive methods of pasture management and may be preferred to rotational grazing under certain conditions. More cows can be carried on fewer acres with these methods, but they require somewhat more labor and management.

If your pastures are like most, they'll probably need help from supplemental pasture. Either sudan grass or one of the sudan-sorghum hybrids provides the best summer seeded annual pasture crop.

The sudan sorghum hybrids have generally outyielded Piper sudan by two or more tons of dry matter per acre per year. On the other hand, hybrids are coarser and generally have a higher prussic acid potential. Thus, Piper is generally safer where cows do the actual grazing. However, for green chop, where the crop is allowed to reach a height of three feet or more before cutting, the hybrids are perfectly safe and provide a much greater forage yield.

WARM WEATHER CROPS

Sudan grass, or the sudan sorghum hybrids, seeded at the rate of 30 pounds per acre, will generally be ready to graze or chop six to seven weeks after planting. They are warm weather crops and should not be seeded until the soil is warm, probably June 1 or later. They can be planted as late as July 1 but do not produce top yields when seeded this late.

How much should you plant? Under normal conditions, when grown primarily for supplemental summer pasture or green chop, we recommend planting about one acre of sudan for each four to five mature animals you want to graze. When considering these crops for silage, green feeding or hay, you can expect a yield of about 10 tons of green forage or three tons of dry hay per acre.

Sudan grass responds very much like corn to a complete mixed fertilizer. It will produce the highest yields, be more evenly grazed and better utilized if divided into two or more areas, each being grazed in rotation and given a chance to recover. Plantings may also be staggered at seven to 10-day intervals to even out the grazing season.

Do not turn cattle on sudan grass until it is about 18 inches tall. If properly managed, two or three grazing periods are possible during a season.

A similar fertility and management program can be followed for hybrids grown for green chop, except that plants should reach a height of three feet before chopping begins.

High quality pasture from tall growing perennial grass legume mixtures or silage made from surplus early pasture is normally more economical than sudan grass. This is provided that there is enough of these mixtures to maintain steady forage production through the summer. If pasture is normally scarce on your farm in July and August sudan grass can be a valuable crop.

P. T. SHARPLES QUILTS HIS GOP FINANCE POST

HARRISBURG (AP)—Philip T. Sharples, the Philadelphia industrialist who long has been a power in Republican state politics, resigned Friday as chairman of the GOP State Finance Committee.

The surprise announcement was made by Gov. Scranton's office. At the same time, GOP State Chairman Craig Truax designated Frank McGlynn, 48, Haverford, as Sharples' successor, effective July 1.

The 74-year-old Sharples had served as finance chairman for state Republicans since 1960, his second go-round in the job. Previously he had held the post from 1950 to 1954.

There was no reason given for his resignation, which was submitted in a letter to Truax. The letter indicated Sharples planned to retain a degree of activity in GOP politics.

"I am sure you know that whenever I am available, I will always do anything that I can to help this committee which means so much to me," Sharples wrote.

Scranton's comment on the resignation was:

"Phil Sharples cannot resign without my personal commendations for the tremendous service he has performed for the Republican party. He has given unstintingly of his time, energies and financial assistance."

McGlynn, currently the vice president of the Fidelity Philadelphia Trust Co., has an extensive background in GOP state politics. He served on the State Executive Committee from 1948 to 1950; founded the State Federation of Young Republican Clubs in 1949; served as national vice president of the Young Republican Federation from 1951-52.

SERVED OTHER POSTS

He also served as vice chairman of the State Finance Committee from 1953 to 1956.

Most recently, he served as vice chairman of the Pennsylvania Citizens Committee for Scott and McGonigle during the 1958 gubernatorial and senatorial campaign.

The Haverford man, married and the father of four daughters, is a graduate of the University of North Carolina and the University of Pennsylvania Law School.

The former President also presented awards for distinguished military and academic achievements to 12 cadets.

He came to the campus in response to an invitation from the cadet brigade, which asked to be inspected during its pre-commencement parade. Graduation exercises will be held Sunday.

SOLD "PEP" PILLS; FINED

HARRISBURG (AP)—Dr. Edward C. Ellison, 41, a Hummelstown osteopath, was fined $500 and costs Friday after he was found guilty of selling "pep pills" to a Dickinson College senior.

He also was placed on probation for one year by Judge G. Thomas Miller, who told him he was guilty of "professional irresponsibility."

A jury of eight women and four men deliberated for almost two hours before returning with the guilty verdict.

Ellison's trial came about after the arrest of Thomas M. Jacks of Hummelstown, the college senior, on a charge of illegal possession of a dangerous drug. He is currently awaiting trial on the charge.

Jacks said he purchased the tablets from Ellison, state police said.

Ellison testified that he sold weight-reducing capsules to Jacks, but thought he was using them for himself. He also said he did not know he was violating the state's drug act.

Capture Robber On Crowded Street

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Two men captured a robber on a crowded downtown Pittsburgh street Friday, then slipped quietly away without waiting for thanks, police said.

Officers said the unidentified men collared Gerald Winkle, 29, an ex-convict, a few seconds after he pushed a woman tavernkeeper to the sidewalk and dashed off with an envelope containing $400 bank deposit.

The two men grabbed Winkle and held him while passers-by hailed a policeman who took Winkle into custody.

RECOVER BODIES

FREEDOM, Pa. (AP)—Divers recovered the bodies of two boys from a Beaver County lake early today.

The bodies were pulled from Stephen Lake in New Sewickley Twp. near the Butler County line. Details on how the boys got into the lake were not learned immediately. They were reported missing Friday.

3 STUDENTS FINED $100

CARLISLE, Pa. (AP)—It cost three fraternity members at Dickinson College $100 each Friday to learn it doesn't pay to take things—like a cannon barrel—from historic monuments.

The three students each were fined $100 after pleading guilty to a charge of malicious mischief resulting from the theft of the barrel from a Revolutionary War cannon at Molly Pitcher's grave here.

The students were identified as Harry R. Marien, 19, Darien, Conn.; George Thomas, 18, Springfield Township, Delaware County; and John T. Friedrich, 20, Ocean City, N.J. They are members of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Police said Friedrich, the fraternity treasurer, was not a participant in the theft, but was charged as an accessory.

Molly Pitcher is a famed heroine of the Revolutionary War. A monument in her honor is erected at Carlisle.

The barrel was missing since May 19, although its absence was not discovered until May 24, police said.

CONG. WALTER PASSES AWAY

By FRANK E. TAYLOR

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Francis E. Walter, 69, chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, died Friday after serving in the House longer than any Pennsylvania Democrat.

Walter, who was elected to a 16th consecutive term last Nov. 6, had been confined to Georgetown University Hospital for several weeks. His death was attributed to leukemia, cancer of the blood.

President Kennedy said in a statement:

"I am saddened to hear of the death of Congressman Francis E. Walter. When I saw him on my recent visit to the hospital he was facing the future with the same faith and courage he had shown throughout his life. He will be greatly missed in the House of Representatives and all his friends mourn his passing."

WAS IN COMA

Jack Yohe, an aide to the congressman, said Walter had been in a coma most of Friday. His physician, Dr. Darrell C. Crain, announced on May 22 that tests showed Walter was suffering from leukemia.

Walter's death and the death earlier this year of Rep. Clyde Doyle, D-Calif., puts Rep. Edwin E. Willis, D-La., in line to become chairman of the Un-American Activities Committee.

The House lineup now becomes 276 Democrats and 177 Republicans, with two vacancies.

Walter, whose home was in Easton in eastern Pennsylvania, was co-author of the controversial McCarran-Walter immigration act. He ranked eighth in seniority in the House and second on the Judiciary Committee. He was re-elected this year as Democratic Caucus chairman and was chairman also of the Democratic Patronage Committee in the House.

Rotation Grazing Helps Grass-legume Mixtures

By THOMAS E. PIPER
Adams County Farm Agent

For pastureland improved by renovation, and on good cropland pasture, a sound rotational grazing system is generally the most efficient method for using high producing grass-legume mixtures.

In studies, conducted by Dr. John B. Washko of the Pennsylvania State University, a mixture of alfalfa and S-37 orchard grass when grazed, using a rotational system of grazing, was the top yielding mixture and persisted for five grazing years. Other good mixtures were birds-foot trefoil, timothy, and bluegrass; and birds-foot trefoil-reed canary grass. Ladino clover-orchard grass, and ladino clover-brome grass mixtures, have also given top pasture yields when grown on soils with a high moisture-holding capacity.

In Washko's studies, he was able to graze the equivalent of 30 animal units for a full season on 20 acres of well fertilized legume-grass mixtures, plus four acres of sudan grass for supplemental summer pasture.

ROTATE PASTURES

For efficient use of rotational grazing, at least five or six pasture paddocks of similar size should be available. Thus, for a 30-cow herd, six improved pastures of four to five acres each would be excellent. Each pasture should have species that reach pasture growth stages at different dates. This assures plenty of pasture through the year. Early spring surplus pasture can be ensiled for supplemental midsummer feed.

Strip grazing, zero grazing and stored feeding are more intensive methods of pasture management and may be preferred to rotation at grazing under certain conditions. More cows can be carried on fewer acres with these methods, but they require somewhat more labor and management.

If your pastures are like most, they'll probably need help from supplemental pasture. Either sudan grass or one of the sudan-sorghum hybrids provides the best summer seeded annual pasture crop.

The sudan sorghum hybrids have generally outyielded Piper sudan by two or more tons of dry matter per acre per year. On the other hand, hybrids are coarser and generally have a higher prussic acid potential. Thus, Piper is generally safer where cows do the actual grazing. However, for green chop, where the crop is allowed to reach a height of three feet or more before cutting, the hybrids are perfectly safe and provide a much greater forage yield.

WARM WEATHER CROPS

Sudan grass, or the sudan sorghum hybrids, seeded at the rate of 30 pounds per acre, will generally be ready to graze or chop six to seven weeks after planting. They are warm weather crops and should not be seeded until the soil is warm, probably June 1 or later. They can be planted as late as July 1 but do not produce top yields when seeded this late.

How much should you plant? Under normal conditions, when grown primarily for supplemental summer pasture or green chop, we recommend planting about one acre of sudan for each four to five mature animals you want to graze. When considering these crops for silage, green feeding or hay, you can expect a yield of about 10 tons of green forage or three tons of dry hay per acre.

Sudan grass responds very much like corn to a complete mixed fertilizer. It will produce the highest yields, be more evenly grazed and better utilized if divided into two or more areas, each being grazed in rotation and given a chance to recover. Plantings may also be staggered at seven to 10-day intervals to even out the grazing season.

Do not turn cattle on sudan grass until it is about 18 inches tall. If properly managed, two or three grazing periods are possible during a season. A similar fertility and management program can be followed for hybrids grown for green chop, except that plants should reach a height of three feet before chopping begins.

High quality pasture from tall growing perennial grass legume mixtures or silage made from surpluses early pasture is normally more economical than sudan grass. This is provided that there is enough of these mixtures to maintain steady forage production through the summer. If pasture is normally scarce on your farm in July and August sudan grass can be a valuable crop.

P. T. SHARPLES QUILTS HIS GOP FINANCE POST

HARRISBURG (AP)—Philip T. Sharples, the Philadelphia industrialist who long has been a power in Republican state politics, resigned Friday as chairman of the GOP State Finance Committee.

The surprise announcement was made by Gov. Scranton's office. At the same time, GOP State Chairman Craig Truax designated Frank McGlynn, 48, Haverford, as Sharples' successor, effective July 1.

The 74-year-old Sharples had served as finance chairman for state Republicans since 1960, his second go-round in the job. Previously he had held the post from 1950 to 1954.

There was no reason given for his resignation, which was submitted in a letter to Truax. The letter indicated Sharples planned to retain a degree of activity in GOP politics.

"I am sure you know that whenever I am available, I will always do anything that I can to help this committee which means so much to me," Sharples wrote.

Scranton's comment on the resignation was:

"Phil Sharples cannot resign without my personal commendations for the tremendous service he has performed for the Republican party. He has given unstintingly of his time, energies and financial assistance."

McGlynn, currently the vice president of the Fidelity Philadelphia Trust Co., has an extensive background in GOP state politics. He served on the State Executive Committee from 1948 to 1950; founded the State Federation of Young Republican Clubs in 1949; served as national vice president of the Young Republican Federation from 1951-52.

SERVED OTHER POSTS

He also served as vice chairman of the State Finance Committee from 1953 to 1956.

Most recently, he served as vice chairman of the Pennsylvania Citizens Committee for Scott and McGonigle during the 1958 gubernatorial and senatorial campaign. The Haverford man, married and the father of four daughters, is a graduate of the University of North Carolina and the University of Pennsylvania Law School.

Eisenhower Made Honorary Captain

CHESTER, Pa. (AP)—In the first such ceremony in the history of Pennsylvania Military College, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was presented with an inscribed cadet sabre and made an honorary First Captain Friday.

Eisenhower had inspected the 675-man brigade before accepting the presentation made by First Cadet Capt. John L. Geoghegan, Pelham Manor, N.Y.

The former President also presented awards for distinguished military and academic achievements to 12 cadets.

He came to the campus in response to an invitation from the cadet brigade, which asked to be inspected during its pre-commencement parade. Graduation exercises will be held Sunday.

SOLD "PEP" PILLS; FINED

HARRISBURG (AP)—Dr. Edward C. Ellison, 41, a Hummelstown osteopath, was fined $500 and costs Friday after he was found guilty of selling "pep pills" to a Dickinson College senior.

He also was placed on probation for one year by Judge G. Thomas Miller, who told him he was guilty of "professional irresponsibility."

A jury of eight women and four men deliberated for almost two hours before returning with the guilty verdict.

Ellison's trial came about after the arrest of Thomas M. Jacks of Hummelstown, the college senior, on a charge of illegal possession of a dangerous drug. He is currently awaiting trial on the charge.

Jacks said he purchased the tablets from Ellison, state police said.

Ellison testified that he sold weight-reducing capsules to Jacks, but thought he was using them for himself. He also said he did not know he was violating the state's Drug Act.

Capture Robber On Crowded Street

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Two men captured a robber on a crowded downtown Pittsburgh street Friday, then slipped quietly away without waiting for thanks, police said.

Officers said the unidentified men collared Gerald Winkle, 29, an ex-convict, a few seconds after he pushed a woman tavernkeeper to the sidewalk and dashed off with an envelope containing $400 bank deposit.

The two men grabbed Winkle and held him while passers-by hailed a policeman who took Winkle into custody.

The bodies were pulled from Stephen Lake in New Sewickley Twp. near the Butler County line. Details on how the boys got into the lake were not learned immediately. They were reported missing Friday.

3 STUDENTS FINED $100

CARLISLE, Pa. (AP)—It cost three fraternity members at Dickinson College $100 each Friday to learn it doesn't pay to take things—like a cannon barrel—from historic monuments.

The three students each were fined $100 after pleading guilty to a charge of malicious mischief resulting from the theft of the barrel from a Revolutionary War cannon at Molly Pitcher's grave here.

The students were identified as Harry R. Marien, 19, Darien, Conn.; George Thomas, 18, Springfield Township, Delaware County; and John T. Friedrich, 20, Ocean City, N.J. They are members of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Police said Friedrich, the fraternity treasurer, was not a participant in the theft, but was charged as an accessory.

Molly Pitcher is a famed heroine of the Revolutionary War. A monument in her honor is erected at Carlisle.

The barrel was missing since May 19, although its absence was not discovered until May 24, police said.

Bride-to-be Says Leopard Must Go

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—A wedding bed is no place for a pet leopard, says Patricia Spades.

And unless Tinker Bell, a 10-week-old leopard, learns to sleep in a cage, Miss Spades' marriage to Frank Michelberger is off.

Tinker Bell only likes to sleep with her master.

"Patricia and Tinker Bell just don't seem to hit it off right," said Michelberger Thursday.

He ranked eighth in seniority in the House and second on the Judiciary Committee. He was re-elected this year as Democratic Caucus chairman and was chairman also of the Democratic Patronage Committee in the House.

"I like the little stinker," countered Patricia, "but I'm darned if it's going to sleep in our bed."

Michelberger didn't enlighten newsmen as to his next move.

The Houston Colts won 11 of 18 games from the Chicago Cubs since 1962 and finished six games ahead of the Cubs in the National League.

CONG. WALTER PASSES AWAY

By FRANK E. TAYLOR

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Francis E. Walter, 69, chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, died Friday after serving in the House longer than any Pennsylvania Democrat.

Walter, who was elected to a 16th consecutive term last Nov. 6, had been confined to Georgetown University Hospital for several weeks. His death was attributed to leukemia, cancer of the blood.

President Kennedy said in a statement:

"I am saddened to hear of the death of Congressman Francis E. Walter. When I saw him on my recent visit to the hospital he was facing the future with the same faith and courage he had shown throughout his life. He will be greatly missed in the House of Representatives and all his friends mourn his passing."

WAS IN COMA

Jack Yohe, an aide to the congressman, said Walter had been in a coma most of Friday. His physician, Dr. Darrell C. Crain, announced on May 22 that tests showed Walter was suffering from leukemia.

Walter's death and the death earlier this year of Rep. Clyde Doyle, D-Calif., puts Rep. Edwin E. Willis, D-La., in line to become chairman of the Un-American Activities Committee.

The House lineup now becomes 276 Democrats and 177 Republicans, with two vacancies.

Walter, whose home was in Easton in eastern Pennsylvania, was co-author of the controversial McCarran-Walter immigration act. He ranked eighth in seniority in the House and second on the Judiciary Committee. He was re-elected this year as Democratic Caucus chairman and was chairman also of the Democratic Patronage Committee in the House.

Southern Rebellion Is Part Of World-Wide Revolution

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—The revolution taking place in the South now—where segregation is melting—is only part of a revolution around the world these past 10 years.

Many forces—few of them noble or unselfish—have shaped the revolution: Nationalism, fear, money or the lack of it, science, rivalry, education, affluence, poverty, stupidity and even the desire for real estate.

It was only nine years ago that the Supreme Court, very late in American history laid down the principle that segregation is unconstitutional. The South could have embraced the principle instantly. It chose not to.

ACTED SLOWLY

It has desegregated slowly under pressure of the courts, troops, public opinion (the North is far from pure on this subject), increasing Negro insistence, and businessmen's realization segregation is bad for business.

It was just 10 years ago that Stalin's death began a quiet revolution in the Communist world. He left it with such a small his successors had to turn on the fan—in this case, denouncing him—to make communism plausible at all.

The Russian people were becoming too educated—and therefore skeptical—to submit indefinitely to the terrorism of Stalin's kind of communism. The de-Stalinization shocked not only the Russians but Communists everywhere.

Destroying the Stalin myth carried with it destruction of some of Moscow's central control. Communist parties in the satellites and elsewhere in turn had to assert some independence to be plausible to their own people.

This opened the door for the various nationalisms to assert themselves, particularly when Moscow acknowledged there's more than one road to communism.

Moscow lost more control when it was financially unable to meet the needs of its satellites. This inability in part was due to its enormous use of men and resources to compete with the United States in space and nuclear weapons.

Although they kept arming, the Russians now seemed less eager for war because they had reached an affluence they were reluctant to risk in nuclear destruction.

SCIENTIFIC PROGRESS

The United States and Russia, out of fear of being outdone, made fantastic strides in science and the exploration of space although it is almost certain neither would be half so advanced if they hadn't dreaded each other so much.

The Red Chinese, nowhere near as affluent as the Russians and therefore less conservative about risks, have split with Moscow for not being belligerent or aggressive enough. They call it an ideological difference.

Ideology is probably a minor factor. A more practical one is the desire for more food and real estate which are available in Southeast Asia and which the Red Chinese no doubt will try to take when they feel strong enough.

BETTER 'MARXISTS'
The Chinese calling themselves better Marxists than the Russians looks more like an attempt at self-justification, for what they have in mind than any real concern nese no doubt will try to take when they feel strong enough.

For centuries the West Europeans suffered from the cancer of nationalism and are in a position now, if they could overcome the obsession about it, to achieve a unity unimagined before the war. But French President Charles de Gaulle's persistent nationalism has forestalled it and what looked like a European unity may wind up as fragments in the ditch of time.

AFRICAN UNITY

In Africa, where only three nations were free at the end of the big war, there are 28 free now. They met recently to discuss unity as a necessity for their salvation in a world of nations far stronger than themselves.

The only unity they achieved was in pious pronouncements which concealed their disunity since they are going through the painful period of nationalism which has afflicted everyone else, including the United States.

Except for Cuba the only real revolutions in Latin America is in the growing discontent of the masses—a discontent which seems certain to explode in blood baths—at the social and economic injustices inflicted upon them by the very rich who refuse to see the writing on the wall.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)— In the news from Washington:

JAM SESSION: The Voice of America is still being heard in Cuba, although the Castro regime and the Soviet Union are trying to drown it out.

They are using the electronic jamming techniques the Kremlin has used for years to interfere with the reception of American broadcasts beamed at the Soviet Union.

The Voice of America, part of the U.S. Information Agency, has increased its Spanish language transmissions to nine hours a day since last fall's Cuban crisis.

If short wave stations also broadcast 60 minutes of programs in Russian for the Soviet troops and personnel stationed in Cuba, Voice of America officials estimate that 900,000 Cubans, about one-seventh of the population, tune in to the American broadcasts.

Outside of Havana, the officials said, the jamming reportedly has little success.

Voice officials have no count of how many Russians are listening. But they said Soviet attempts to jam the U.S. programs with transmitters based in the Soviet Union have had virtually no effect on the American signal.

MESSAGE FROM POPE: President Kennedy received a message from Pope John XXIII Thursday which the White House said "expressed appreciation for the President's concern over his illness."

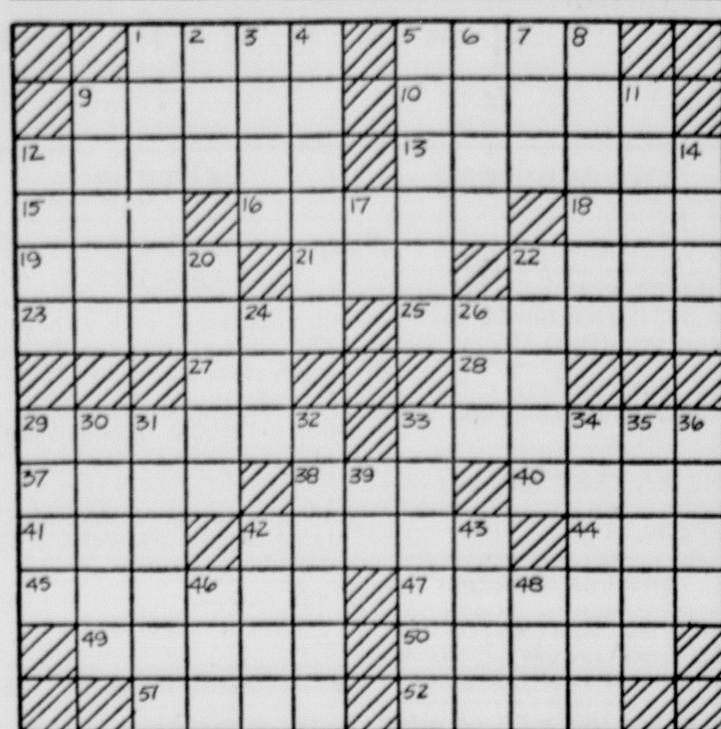

On Monday Kennedy had messaged his hopes for the Pope's speedy recovery.

The White House did not release the text of either message. GOP TICKET: Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., doubts he would be a vice presidential candidate on a Republican national ticket headed by Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.

"We just don't happen to see alike on very important issues and therefore I don't think it's likely that we would be on the same ticket," said Case Thursday. The New Jersey senator, mentioned as a possible GOP vice presidential candidate, was interviewed here on a program taped for use by a New York television station (WNDT-TV).

MARRIAGE RECORDS OF THE REV. J. R. WARNER

The history of Lower Marsh Creek Presbyterian Church, its ministers and old burial ground, is continued at this time.

A little over three years after their marriage, the wife of the Rev. John R. Warner died and was buried in the Evergreen Cemetery, this place. The inscription on the marker at her grave reads as follows:

"In memory of—Jennie Craig—of Precious Memory—wife of the Rev. John R. Warner—Died September 30, 1863 — Aged 28 years."

Note: Tuesday, October 6, 1863 — (Star and Sentinel).
"Died, September 30, 1863, Jennie Craig Warner, the wife of the Rev. John R. Warner, of this place (Gettysburg), in the 28th year of her age."

HAD ONE CHILD

Apparently only one child, a daughter, was born to Rev. John R. and Jennie (Craig) Warner. On another grave marker in the Warner burial plot this inscription is to be seen—

"In memory of—Mary Warner daughter of John R. & Jennie C. Warner—born April 11, 1862—Died July 9, 1947—also—Marianne C. Moore—daughter of—John M. & Mary W. Moore—Born November 15, 1897—Died (Date not given)."

During his ministry at Lower Marsh Creek Presbyterian Church the Rev. John R. Warner performed quite a few marriage ceremonies. It is interesting to note, in comparison with the marriage records of the ministers who preceded the Rev. Warner, the same family names. Lower Marsh Creek kept her members—from one generation to another. The marriage records of the Rev. Warner follow:

OCEAN 'COPTER TRY STALLED

FROBISHER BAY, Baffin Island (AP)—A maintenance problem on an escort plane has stalled an attempt by three Air Force captains to make the second helicopter crossing of the Atlantic Ocean.

The twin-turbine helicopter began its trip Monday at Otis Air Force Base, Mass., and landed at this Royal Canadian Air Force base Wednesday night after a hop from Safek, near the northern tip of Labrador.

Its next stop is Sandstrom, Greenland, and it originally intended to land at Le Bourget, near Paris, France, this morning.

But the craft has already lost one day because of fog and the Air Force does not know when it will be able to leave here. Pennsylvania Captain John D. Arthurs, 36, Chester, is aboard along with William A. Scott III, 31, Cambridge, Md., and William B. Lehman, 32, Dallas, Tex.

ECUADOR NABS 21 TUNA BOATS

SALINAS, Ecuador (AP)—Ecuador held 21 tuna boats from San Diego, Calif., Friday for alleged illegal fishing within its territorial waters.

Two boats, the White Star and the Ranger, faced charges originally. But Commander Francisco Espinosa of the navy general staff said Thursday night the fleet of 21 would be impounded and the captains tried if they lacked proper permits.

Nineteen of the boats reported they accompanied the White Star and Ranger to port in a show of solidarity. The navy said, however, its warships escorted all the tuna boats to this port, 225 miles southwest of Quito.

The tuna skippers claim they fished 13 miles offshore, while Ecuador contends they were only 3 miles off shore. The United States recognizes only a three-mile territorial limit.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk demanded release of the White Star and the Ranger and called for negotiations to settle the dispute.

Special Reserve Protects Dollar

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and Britain have agreed to raise from $50 million to $500 million a reciprocal currency arrangement designed to guard the stability of the dollar and the pound.

The arrangement between the Federal Reserve Board and the Bank of England permits a tenfold increase in the amount of currency that can be exchanged by the two countries if either the pound or the dollar is threatened by speculation.
